Our City Comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

The Stray Dog Situation in Glendale Is Becoming Acute

THE time is here when something must be done to control the stray dog situation.

The fact that there is a difference of opinion on the disease and method of treatment for its cure cannot delay some effective action at once.

Altogether too many people have been attacked and bitten during the last two months. In the majority of cases the victims have been children too young to offer much resistance.

* * *

MOST of us are dog lovers, but we should not let our love for the dog interfere with the safeguarding of our children.

There is no good reason that we can see for the stray dog. The owner who allows his dog to run the streets receives little benefit or satisfaction in the possession.

* * *

THERE is one thing we can count on for certain, should our city officials fail to enact proper legislation. That will be the placing of a quarantine by the county or state officials.

If they should do this, all dog owners will suffer by the action. The city will also be a loser by the fact that it will be bad advertising.

* * *

THERE should be no such situation as now exists in Glendale. The people want an ordinance to control the stray dogs, but they do not want one which will prevent them owning a real family pet.

The police of our cities have no better aid in keeping crime down than the dog. The citizen whose house is located away from police protection feels secure in the keeping of a good watchdog.

* * *

THE dog has its place in both our hearts and our homes, but we must keep him from running the streets at will.

It is up to the city council to enact the proper legislation without further delay.

LEGION LOT GETS GOOD CLEANING BY FATIGUERS

Members of Glendale post No. 127, American Legion, were busy cleaning off the Legion lot on Mountain street, preceding the regular meeting of the organization held on Friday, and accomplished a large portion of the work to be done. This will be completed at a future time.

Among the visitors present at Friday's meeting were Comrade Frederick of Omaha, Neb., Mr. Talley of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mr. Hanley of Illinois(, who was the guest of Al Wheelon.

A very gratifying report was given on the recent boxing and wrestling entertainment put on under the auspices of the Legion. An invitation has been received from Highland Park Legion post, No. 206, to attend its annual roll call to be held on the evening of September 12, when all Legionnaires and their families will be welcome. There will be an entertainment and talk by Asa Keyes.

Comrade Peter Luzzari, who was recently transferred to the local post from Paris Post No. 1, who represented Glendale post at the Los Angeles LaFayette-Marne celebration on September 6, gave a report on the same.

SCIOT CEREMONIAL WAS GREAT AFFAIR

Horns Blared, Red Lights Burned, Paraders Marched, All Ate

The great Sciot Ceremonial has taken place. It more than justified the expectations of officers and members of this flourishing new order, proving one of the biggest ceremonials ever held in Southern California. As it was handled by Chairman H. M. Bennett assisted by committee chairman, he and his fellow workers naturally came in for much praise and were given a rousing vote of thanks at the banquet which concluded the festivities of the evening, a spread which was served in the spacious store rooms of the new Glendale Press building.

The De Molays, who are also "new" assisted on the side lines, and city departments co-operated. Altogether it was an event of such unusual interest that it will not soon be forgotten.

One hundred and thirty-six candidates were initiated, all but six Glendalians, the six coming from Santa Ana.

These candidates assembled at the Glendale Press hall in readiness to join the parade which started from that point at 7:30 p. m. It was led by the motorcycle corps of the city.

Then came the Captain of the Guard, E. A. Sullivan, and the General Chairman, H. M. Bennett, on foot. They were followed by the Glendale Sciot's band of 40 pieces, its drum major being Chief Fraser and Sciot Russell directing.

Supreme officers came next, followed by the officers of the Glendale Pyramid, headed by Arthur Dibern as Toparch.

Next in line were eight marching men carrying as many pyramids bearing letters spelling the word "Glendale." This spectacular feature served as an introduction to the marching Glendale Pyramid members numbering 150.

A telegraph pole borne on a truck served as the "goat" of the procession. This, which was bestrode by several candidates, bore such inscriptions as "It's a long, rough road."

About 100 of the candidates followed on foot, all wearing white dunce caps labelled "Raw Meat."

The Los Angeles Pyramid Band followed and then came Los Angeles Pyramid officers and members to the number of 250. After these came officers and members of ten pyramids of Southern California, about 200 being in line.

The line of march ran from Lexington to Colorado on the west side of the street and back on the other side.

The entire street was illuminated by red fire handled by the De Molay boys and all traffic was suspended while the parade was passing, traffic officers being stationed at all the corners.

On returning to the hall of the Press Building a wonderful program of entertainment was given and this was followed by the initiation of the candidates. By the time they got through riding the goat and all the other things they were called upon to do, it was 12 o'clock and they were ready for the banquet served down stairs.

The program which preceded the initiation included the following numbers, every one a gem which won great applause.

Program chairman, Sciot Murdy. Director of program, Keaumoku Louis.

BOYS AND GIRLS SEE YOURSELVES AS CAMERA DOES

Boys and girls who attended the big party given you by the Press last Tuesday—the moving pictures taken of you at that time will be shown Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of next week at the Gateway theater.

Of course you'll want to see yourselves as the camera saw you. It's a great picture and you really can't afford to miss it. Remember, next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday nights at the Gateway.

SALVATION ARMY IS COLLECTING RELIEF FUNDS

Headquarters Opened in Glendale and Solicitors Stationed

Major Morrison of the Salvation Army post of Los Angeles, who was in Glendale Friday, and who arranged to establish army headquarters where subscriptions to Japanese relief funds that donors desire to send through the army can be received, states that the army will take a leading part in relief and reconstruction work in Japan because for 25 years it has maintained there one of the most progressive branches of its world wide organization.

Brigadier Boyd, who has been forwarding to corps commanders in the southern districts instructions concerning the relief plan urged by General Booth, the international head of the army, in a recent communication said:

"Our work in Japan has been under the direct supervision of a Japanese of the very highest type, Colonel Yamamuro, who has long been one of the recogniezd leaders in the national life of Japan. He has taken a leading part in every important work for the betterment of his country; he knows the ground, and he has behind him an effective organization to carry out without delay the most effective relief program that could be devised.

"Under the direction of Colonel Yamamuro there are 126 Salvation Army stations and social institutions which are equipped to carry on the great work that confronts the Army, and there are 349 commissioned officers ready to lead their Salvation Rrmy co-workers in this relief mission.

"Southern California has been blessed in many ways and it now has a greater opportunity than ever to perform a work of real service in behalf of a sister nation that is calling for succor. Through the Salvation Army all may share in giving the help which Japan so sorely needs now. The Army throughout the world is answering the call which has come from Japan and it will take a leading part in the work of relief and reconstruction."

PACIFIC AVE. METHODIST CHURCH TO ENLARGE SUNDAY SCHOOL QUARTERS

The vital thing in the program of the Pacific Avenue Methodist Church of this city for the coming year is the enlargement of its Sunday school quarters which are quite inadequate for its growing Sunday school work and the social needs of the organization. It is a community church and welcomes all worshippers regardless of their church affiliations. Its Sunday school enrollment approximates 250, and its church membership 150. No plans have yet been made for financing this church enlargement

BUILDING PERMITS IN LAST 48 HOURS TOTAL OVER FIFTY THOUSAND

Only One of Twenty-five Issued Is for More Than Four Thousand Dollars and That One Calls for Expenditure of $13,600

MEDIUM SIZED RESIDENCES PREDOMINATE

One Permit Is for Sixteen Room Apartment House and Garages; All Others for Four and Five Room Residences, Additions and Garages

In the way of building permits, September, 1923, promises to give September, 1922, the biggest "run" it has experienced up to this time, and, incidentally, it promises to show that so far as activity along the construction line is concerned things were never better in Glendale.

Before the month is out the Glendale Press predicts that these promises will become realities.

To date the total for September, 1923, amounts to $149,800, which is a good start toward the mark of $647,720 that was hung up during September, 1922. The total for 1923 up to this time amounts to $6,802,814, which is just $496,842 more than the total of $6,305,971 for the entire of 1922.

During the past two days 25 building permits, having a total valuation of $50,905, were issued. In connection with these an interesting story can be read between the lines. All of these permits were for homes, garages, etc., none of them being for business structures. This is a healthy condition, for it assists in keeping the residential portion of the city even with the business section.

"Things surely are looking good," said "Van," superintendent of the building department, this morning. "The permits are piling up and with the prospects that are before us we would say that the coming fall and winter would be crammed full of building activity in Glendale."

| | |
|---|---|
| Oliver E. Wright, 1236 Allen, garage | $ 150 |
| John A. Fisher, 129 Howard Court, 7 rooms and garage | 4,000 |

EARLY MORNING WEDDING AT THE LEARNED HOME

Carroll Thompson and Miss Edith Learned Groom and Bride

A charming event occurring at 8 o'clock this morning was the marriage of Miss Edith Learned, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Learned of 1649 Glenwood road, and Carroll W. Thompson of Oakland, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride by Rev. Braden, dean of the California Christian college of Los Angeles.

Wilburt Parry of Modesto served as best man and Hester Ross of Alhambra was maid of honor. Miss Idalean Thompson, sister of the groom, played the wedding march.

Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served, the feature of which was the table centerpiece. This was a beautiful rock-bordered pond in which water flowers were growing.

Following the breakfast the bride and groom left for a short wedding trip, their destination being unknown to any but themselves. On their return they will live at the Learned home until the new home that is being constructed by Mr. Thompson is finished.

The bride is popular among church circles of Glendale, while the groom is an instructor at the California Christian college.

Those present at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and daughter, Idalean; Mrs. College and daughter, Charlotte; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Learned, W. D. Learned and Mrs. J. D. Trask, Mr. Rood and Frances Musser, all close relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson.

W. E. SAWYER SAYS EAST LOOKS GOOD GLENDALE BEST

W. E. Sawyer, of the Sawyer & Bolen realty firm of 211 West Broadway, and son Howard returned Friday night from a six weeks' business and pleasure trip to Grand Rapids, Michigan. Although things in the east looked good, Glendale looks much better, according to Mr. Sawyer.

He states, "There are only two classes of people in the east—those who are coming to California and those who want to come here." The problem the people in the middle west and east are facing now is that of filling their coal bins, and getting ready for a hard winter.

Business conditions are reported as being better than at any time during the past three years and people are all looking forward to a prosperous 1924. Mr. Sawyer found crop conditions throughout the middle western states exceptionally fine. There is quite a bit of building activity in the larger manufacturing towns, he states.

BOURNES RETURN FROM EXTENDED MOTOR TRIP

Visit Many Places in Northern California, Oregon, Washington

B. F. Bourne, his wife and two children, who left Glendale August 11, to motor to Seattle for a combined business and pleasure trip, returned Friday night and have some interesting things to tell of what they saw en route and in the far north. In reviewing their itinerary, Mr. Bourne said:

"We saw Mount Lassen erupt, visited Crater Lake and Ranier National park, visiting a relative, Jonathan Bourne of Seattle, and William Melville, secretary of the License Bureau of that state at Olympic, Washington.

"Seattle and Portland are in the midst of a boom, working night and day shifts at their lumber, pulp and woolen mills and appear to be just starting on a reconstruction building campaign. Large old houses that have been standing for many years are being modernized and placed upon the market. A business building campaign has been on for some time.

"They have methods of doing things up there without imposing heavy taxes that impressed me very much. The money for road improvement, for example, is provided out of a certain sinking fund before the roads are built, so it is a cash proposition. All fees from the license bureau are turned in to a general state fund.

"I had dinner with Governor Hart of Washington, and his family, and he explained their system of 'paying cash ahead instead of cash behind,' as he phrased it. Their tax rate is very low. Seattle and all their large cities have a rate that is under a dollar.

"Business was stagnant for some time but for the past year it has been picking up rapidly and now it is in full swing equal to old times.

"The scenery is wonderful. If we could transfer the water and the greenery along the Columbia, we would have a paradise.

"Portland impressed me the most favorably of any northern city, but it doesn't compare with Los Angeles. I was in Portland 18 years ago and in Seattle and couldn't fail to notice the great change in both cities. In Seattle since I was there the hills have been washed down to make a more level city.

"We enjoyed more than anything else the beautiful auto camps we found north of San Luis Obispo, where we found accommodations almost equal to hotels.

"We met people from all over the west, the east and the north, and all headed for California. In Portland wherever the sign "Glendale" on my car was seen, I was stopped and asked what chance the inquirers would have here. I handed out about 100 of the Chamber of Commerce booklets and every one in response to an appeal for information.

"I told them that ever since the war business here had been very good and that building had been going steadily with no indication of a boom but steady growth; that everybody was coming to California and I could see no prospect of any decline; that business conditions were such that almost any man who had it in him, could make a go in Southern California.

"I told them there was only one GLENDALE in the whole world and if they would give me any part of all the rest I wouldn't exchange if I had to live there."

EDITH HAGIN SAFE, IS MESSAGE JUST RECEIVED BY A. P.

The following message, received at 12:45 over the Daily Press Associated Press wire, was telephoned at once by the Daily Press to Mrs. Fred Hagin, bringing great joy to the mother heart that had begun to despond:

[By Associated Press]

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 8.—All American workers of the Christian church in Japan are safe, according to a message received today by the United Christian Missionary Society.

Names of missionaries who are in Japan include: Miss Jessie Asbury, Hollywood, Cal., Miss Edith Hagin, Glendale, Calif.

PRESS WANT ADS HAVE AN AWFUL KICK

"It's the little things in life that count."

This is probably the reason why classified want ads are such powerful business builders, such money and time savers, such friends in need! They are small, as a rule, but the message they carry is tremendous.

Have you noticed how the Daily Press want ad columns have been growing recently? Look them over and get an eyefull.

There's a reason. The Daily Press want ad has a kick that resembles an earthquake, and a result that brings that unwashable smile.

RED CROSS FUND RAISING GOES WELL

Mesdames H. E. Bartlett and John Robert White Start Work

Tremendously busy have been Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, chairman of the Glendale chapter, Red Cross, and her associate, Mrs. John Robert White, arranging for girls and women to preside over tables which have been placed in nine Glendale banks to receive contributions for the relief of Japanese sufferers by earthquake. These commenced their work Thursday. The first day's receipts totalled $445. Glendale's minimum quota is $3432, and the Pacific division has advised the chapter to keep within that amount as some chapters are exceeding their quota.

Chambers of commerce, Y. M. C. A. organizations, Jewish relief and Spanish war veterans have designated the Red Cross as their agent to receive subscriptions.

Women who have agreed to help in the work are Margaret Eckles, Coral Griffith, Marjorie Yarick, Mesdames Lillian Dow, R. A. Gulick, Sallie Braden, H. S. Waller, Normal Hayhurst, Lillian Empey, Alan Fairchild, John H. Toal, W. E. Evans, Harry Greenwalt, L. T. Rowley, O. E. Von Oven, T. H. Hudson, H. E. Bartlett, Jack Boettner, H. C. Vandewater, C. R. Russell, C. R. Bassell, E. S. Dodds, Frae Rohr, Dorothy Sullivan, Peter Diederich and Earl Shock.

As the chapter does not want to be compelled to make personal solicitations to secure its quota, Mrs. White will ask business houses to make collections from employees and turn them in to the chapter.

PENDROY'S PARTY FOR THE KIDDIES GREAT SUCCESS

Over 700 happy Glendale children, with their mothers, sisters and other relatives were guests at the second annual children's party given Friday afternoon on the second floor of Pendroy's department store, with Mrs. E. C. Pendroy and staff of the children's department as hostesses.

It was a real party with a program, refreshments and favors, and an added attraction in the form of a children's revue. The program was furnished through the courtesy of the Woods School of Klever Kiddies and included a story "The Two Bottles" by Nanno Woods; "Fan Dance," by Charliss Reeves; "Chinese Dance," by Joseph Taylor; "Fairy Dance," by Evelyn Moltz; reading and dance, "Alice Blue Gown," by Kathleen Woods; reading and dance, "Fish-Fish-Fish," by Dorothy Woods.

The latest word in fall styles of children's dresses in silks and ginghams, fall coats, shoes and millinery, were most effectively shown by the following little models: Betty Russell, age 2 years; Florence O'Brien, aged 2 years; Mary Jane McFail, age 3 years; Jean Crane, age 5 years; Louise Walton, age 6 years; Katherine Evans, age 8 years; Doris Hanna, age 10 years; Evelyn Apffel, age 10 years; Shirley Otter, age 12 years.

A great deal of fun was added to the party by a clown, impersonated by Mr. Damon in Yama Yama costume. The favors were real gold rings that were given to each child present. Just like two Christmases it seemed to many of the kiddies. The refreshments were in the nature of glasses of orange punch.

DR. KAEMMERLING TREATS MANY FOR DOG BITE

Pasteur Treatment Given 17, All Bitten by Same Canine

Seventeen persons, all bitten by the same dog, will be started on the Pasteur treatment by the Glendale health department Sunday. Five others were also attacked by the animal. Three of them will take the treatment to guard against development of rabies, in Los Angeles, and the others in the county office. The five dogs and three cats bitten by the same animal have been destroyed, but the vicious animal itself is confined, under observation.

All those bitten by dogs in the past week or two accepted the treatment when it was offered, except one man and the parents of one small boy. The child's people did not believe the scratch inflicted on him important enough to warrant the treatment.

The vaccine treatment for these people is costing the city approximately $1000, according to Dr. Kaemmerling, health officer.

These reports of numerous attacks on pedestrians and children in the past two weeks have renewed the pleas of the local health office and many others for people to have their pets vaccinated. This has been advocated in Glendale for over ten months and is now being taken up with a loud cry by the Los Angeles health office. Dr. Giles S. Porter, diagnostician of the Los Angeles city health service, has issued a public plea for people to further this move to protect their children.

During August, 58 cases of rabies among dogs were reported in Los Angeles, while two years ago there were but 5. Dr. Kaemmerling points this out, together with the pitiful case of little 3-year-old David Rainsford of Lynwood, who has but a few hours more to live, at the county hospital. His case is bringing the terror of the dread disease before many people who are taking up the cry for protection.

Dr. Kaemerling, in noting the appalling increase, appeals again to every owner of a pet dog to have it vaccinated.

MORE THAN THIRD RED CROSS QUOTA HAS BEEN RAISED

Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, chairman of the Glendale chapter, American Red Cross, is in receipt of a telegram from the Pacific division at San Francisco urging the collection of Glendale's quota by Monday, if possible, because the need is so urgent.

Receipts Friday at the tables in banking houses of Glendale, where subscriptions are being received, totalled $467.74, and additional early morning receipts today brought the total to $1000.

Tomorrow appeals for funds for the suffering Japanese will be made in the churches of Glendale, and Mrs. Bartlett is hoping the response will be such as will enable the chapter to comply with the request of the Pacific division.

Every cent subscribed will go to Japan, no part of it being retained for funds in this country.

Mrs. Bartlett is also urging business houses to collect subscriptions from their employes and turn them in to the collectors at the banks that the work may be speeded and the money be sent forward to do its work or relief.

FOREIGNERS LOST IN YOKOHAMA STATED AS 200

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Two hundred foreigners were killed at Yokohama, according to the navy department's first direct word from that port received today in two messages from Adimral Anderson, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet. One hundred and thirty foreign refugees, most of them Americans and Englishmen, he reported, were at Hakone and others were arriving at Kobe. He confrmed reports of the deaths of Consul Kirjassoff and wife and Vice-Consult Jenks and also reported G. Babbitt, assistant commercial attache at Tokio, dead. Babbitt, in other dispatches has been reported alive.

WILL BE NECESSARY FOR SOME OF GRAMMAR SCHOOLS TO HAVE HALF DAY SESSIONS FOR A TIME

Occidental, Doped Last Year as Winner, But Misfiring, Is Hot Favorite Again for 1923-24 Season With the Wise Ones

SOUTHERN BRANCH, CAL. TECH ALSO LOOM

With Husky Veterans of Last Year Missing in Greater or Lesser Numbers From Every Squad, It Is All a Matter of Speculation

Information in regard to the opening of the city schools, the districts covered by each, regulations concerning special permits, the ages at which children may be entered in kindergartens and first grades is contained in the following article prepared by Superintendent R. D. White, and should be studied by parents.

It will be seen that the schools are to open September 17 and that until new buildings are completed it will be necessary to maintain half-day sessions in some of the schools.

OPENING OF SCHOOL

The first term of school will open on Monday, September 17, 1923. It is very important that every child should enter school on the first day and should thereafter be regular and punctual in his attendance. Any absence may be a serious menace to the child's standing in his classes.

HALF-DAY SESSIONS

Until the new buildings are completed it will be necessary to maintain half-day sessions in grades 1-3 of some of the schools. The time of completion of the new buildings has been set at from two to six weeks after the opening of school, the time being different in different cases.

In the rooms where half-day sessions are maintained, the morning session will begin at 8:30 and close at 12:20, and the afternoon session will begin at 12:30 and will close at 4:20. The schools in which it will be necessary to maintain half-day sessions in some or all of grades 1-3 are the Acacia avenue, Broadway, Central avenue, Colorado street, Doran street, Magnolia avenue and Pacific avenue schools.

SPECIAL PERMITS

Owing to the crowded condition of some of the schools it will be impossible to grant permits to attend school in a district other than that of residence with the same freedom as heretofore. Parents desiring such permits should apply at the superintendent's office during the week before school opens. No permits will be issued until the second day of the school term at which time it will be possible to determine what conditions are. Parents are requested therefore, even though they have applied for a permit to send their children for the first two days of the term to the school in whose district they reside.

SCHOOL AGE

The legal age for entering school is six years. However an allowance of three months is made. This means that in order to enter the first grade a child would have to be six on or before December 17, 1923. No beginner will be admitted after Friday, October 12.

KINDERGARTENS

The law states the kindergarten age to be from four and one-half to six years. This law is interpreted to mean that the child's fourth birthday must have occurred at least three months before the opening of the term, i. e., in this case, on or before June 17, 1923. No allowance is made for over age. Any child who is six years old or older on the day the term begins will not be admitted to the kindergarten. Such child may of course enter school if the parents so desire. In order that the parent may have a choice between the kindergarten and the school, the child must be between five years and nine months and six years old on the day the term begins.

Parents are advised not to send their children to kindergarten until they are at least four years and nine months old for the following reasons: First, we have a kindergarten course of only one year and if a child finishes that before he has attained to school age he will either have to drop out for a half year or take the same work over again in the kindergarten; second, a child of five will get much more out of the kindergarten work than a child of four and a half.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE HOURS

For any further information call up the superintendent's office between the hours of nine and five except on Saturdays and Sundays. On Saturday call between nine and twelve. Telephone Glendale 593.

DISTRICTS

Parents are urged to study the district lines as given below and to send their children to the school in whose district they reside, on the first day of the term. Please note carefully also the grades that each school will enroll. These district lines are subject to change either for a whole school or for separate grades if the first day's enrollment shows such a change to be necessary.

What Our Folks Are Doing

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Verity of 511 West Broadway have received a telegram stating that Mr. Verity's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Adair, of Harriman, Tenn., will arrive in Glendale today for a visit.

Miss Clarice Hanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hanson of 221 Arden avenue is expected to return to Glendale Sunday from Chicago, where she has been spending the summer visiting relatives.

Mrs. Francis Edwards of Oakland and daughter Lula, are house guests of Mrs. T. J. Keleher of 528 North Louise. They recently enjoyed a trip to San Diego and Coronado and are going to Catalina Island for over the week-end and will remain there to see the eclipse.

Mrs. Harold Latter has returned to her home at Berkeley, after having been the guest for several weeks of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Lusby of 208 Hawthorne street.

City manager William H. Reeves who has been enjoying a vacation for the past two weeks, will return to his post of duty in the city hall, Monday morning.

Mrs. W. H. Dotson and daughters have returned from a several weeks' visit with her mother, Mrs. John Bergerhaus at Ottawa, Kansas.

W. H. Dotson of 333 West Harvard street has been confined to his bed on account of illness since Tuesday.

R. C. Jewell and son Spencer of 1319 East Harvard street have just returned from a two months' trip to Mr. Jewell's former home near Detroit, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. C. U. Wells of 336 West Maple smtreet entertained as their guests informally Wednesday night, Mr. and Mrs. Bode, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carroll.

A group of Glendale people who are enjoying a week's vacation outing at Alamitos Bay, includes Mrs. I. N. East and daughter, Mrs. Maude Wright, Mrs. F. A. East and son Arthur, and Bobby Allen

Richardson D. White, his wife and daughter Helen, left this noon for San Diego to witness the eclipse from that city. Their relative, Mr. Jones and his family, left yesterday and agreed to find quarters for the Whites if possible. They will, however, take camping equipment, so they can take to the open if they fail to find a roof to shelter them.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Alexander and family of 1003 East Palmer avenue have returned from a 1200-mile scenic motor trip to Bishop, Mono lake, Lake Tahoe and vicinity. They saw geysers, ice fields, glaciers and wonderful rivers. The trout fishing, they state, was splendid.

PYTHIAN SISTERS INITIATE MEMBER

Initiation of a new member took place at the regular meeting of the Pythian Sisters held Friday night at the K. P. hall, corner of South Brand boulevard and Park avenue with Mrs. Joliffe presiding. A banquet was served after the meeting. The committee in charge included Messrs. Holmes, Joliffe and Dixon.

Mrs. Mary R. Hill and daughter Marian of 519 North Louise street spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Russell, at Santa Monica.

BLUEBEARD'S 8 LOVELY WIVES AT T.D.&L. TONIGHT

If Bluebeard of the fable had had eight wives as lovely as those chosen for the Paramount picture, "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," starring Gloria Swanson which is at the T. D. and L. theater for the last times today, he might have been less prone to dispose of them in such a cavalier manner.

These eight women, Miss Swanson, the star, being the eighth, are all distinct types and exceptionally charming. And they dress distinctively, for in this film, as in all of Miss Swanson's pictures, clothes are an important factor. But there is intense dramatic acting for the star, as well. The settings are lavish and in every respect this picture is a worthy successor to the brilliant offerings in which Gloria Swanson has appeared for Paramount, such as "My American Wife," "The Impossible Mrs. Bellew," and others.

Sunday Program

Produced with every facility of the Paramount organization at the disposal of the director, Victor Fleming, "To the Last Man" rings true of the spirit of the west that war. It presents a gripping narrative of the feuds that tore families and friends asunder, of the strife that swept through Arizona, and centered its fire in the Tonto

Richard Dix
in the Paramount Picture
'To the Last Man'

Basin, where the sheep and cattle interests were involved. Unfolding its thrilling theme against a rugged background of inspiring scenery, the reviewer in witnessing "To the Last Man" is not only viewing some of the wildest country in America, but he is living through a feud that is part of Arizona history, and on the exact spot where it reaped its terrible toll.

Had the various characters in this virile story actually stepped from the covers of Zane Grey's beloved novel, they could not have been more real nor exact than as interpreted by Richard Dix, Lois Wilson, Robert Edeson, Frank Campeau, Winifred Greenwood, Charles Ogle and Guy Oliver.

"To the Last Man" will be shown this Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the T. D. and L. theater—three days only.

LYTELL TURNS FROM CROOK TO THIEF CATCHER

Bert Lytell, who has been seen as the gentlemanly crook of a score of screen dramas, has turned the tables on his underworld companions of the screen and is now appearing as a detective. In Bayard Veiller's new Metro production, "Sherlock Brown," Lytell is seen in the title role as a persistent seeker after government enemies.

In "Alias Jimmy Valentine," "Boston Blackie's Little Pal," "Boston Blackie's Redemption," "Alias Ladyfingers" and "Faith," Lytell became known to picture-goers as an expert law-breaker. Speaking of his new picture, he said:

"I'm glad to have this opportunity to test out the old saw about it requiring a 'crookto catch a crook.' I have learned enough crook tricks in earlier pictures to make any genuine criminal fear me. Now, it is up to me to make use of this knowledge as the amateur detective."

The cast supporting Mr. Lytell includes Ora Carew, Sylvia Breamer, Theodore von Eltz, Charles Stevenson, Victory Bateman, De Witt Jennings and Hardee Kirkland.

"Sherlock Brown" at Glendale theater last times today, two big shows and 5 uproarious acts of clean vaudeville.

Sunday at the Glendale

History boasts many "A Friendly Husband," but according to Lupino Lane, appearing in the title role of the picture by this name presented by William Fox at the Glendale theater, beginning Sunday, September 9, there's a marked difference in the intonation of the word, "friendly."

"Henry VIII, now," metions Lupino. "Henry was a friendly husband, from what history tells us. But he wasn't endurable. He lasted a year or so and then declared an end to his friendliness by chopping off the head of the hapless damsel.

"Bluebeard was another cheery little playmate. He lacked a sense of humor. So he remained friendly with each successive wife for a short time, then she passed out of the picture, capably aided by him.

"Now those memorable rascals don't carry out my idea of 'A Friendly Husband.' A friendly husband accedes to his wife when she isn't exactly reasonable. He goes it fifty-fifty."

CAVANAHS OPEN A NEW DIVERSION FOR CHILDREN

Today, when the tendency is to do even the simplest things at high pressure, educators are realising the necessity of instilling in the minds of the younger generation principles that make for success. And much is needed—application, concentration, efficiency, despatch, neatness, visualization, and the development of reasoning powers. The demands on public facilities are overwhelming. Each individual cannot be considered. But more and more the tendency is to broaden the child's mind.

This is a children's age. Never before have learned men devoted so much time to finding methods of raising the child intelligently and intellectually.

Playing its part in this plan, the Cavanagh Studios offer parents in Glendale a new course for children, the "Children's Personal Culture Course." It is intended as a preliminary course to regular schooling to apply for the greatest good on their later education.

Method of Procedure

"The first hour of the morning will be filled with the doing of some one definite thing, such as artwork, beadwork, watercolor painting, modeling in putty, and such things. During this period the children will be taught to concentrate and actually accomplish something. The prime object will be the learning to conserve energy.

Following this will be a period of general recreation. Then will come physical exercises of a gentle type, rathen than of a strenuous nature. These will consist of deep breathing and such movements that will tend to develop grace in daily actions.

The exercises being completed, the children will be given instruction in etiquette and personal discipline. Once in the week small tables will be set for a luncheon of little knick-nacks and the children will be taught the duties of host, hostess and guest.

Following will come instruction in the Dunning System of Music Study for beginners. This makes practice become play instead of an irksome task. The children learn to love music and to think in music. The Dunning System is improved, instructive and teaches correct fundamental principles. The child's innate love of play is used to instill the ideas. By the imagination the important points of music are firmly implanted in the child mind before the actual playing of the instrument.

When the music period is finished the children will be given instruction in speaking pieces, in dancing, correct language for the expressing of ideas, and general deportment.

Those who may be interested are invited to go to the studios at 130 North Orange street and become acquainted with the Cavanahs and the work they are doing, or phone them, Glendale 1727-J, for a representative to call and explain more fully.

The first week a girl wears an engagement ring she invariably forgets her gloves when she goes out.

EGYPTIAN VILLA KEEPING OPEN HOUSE SUNDAY

Sunday will be open house at the Egyptian Villa, the beautiful tract office of the Haddock-Nibley company, owners and subdividers of the wonderful Rossmoyne tract.

The finishing touches have been placed on this most beautiful tract office in Southern California, and everything is ready for the people of this section to go through and inspect this remarkable feature.

"The people of Glendale certainly should avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing the many attractive points about this remarkable tract feature. It is without doubt the finest thing in of its kind in this part of the country, and it is one of which we are proud."

Sales continue to be made almost hourly in the unsurpassed Rossmoyne tract. Realty buyers from all over Southern California, who have heard of the beauties of this tract are making their selection of home sites in this beautiful subdivision. The remarkable values that are being offered in this tract are realized by all who inspect it.

MARY JANES WILL PICNIC AT BROOKSIDE

On Sunday, September 9, 1923, the annual picnic outing of Mary Jan Gillett tent, No. 18, Daughters of Veterans, will be held at Brookside park, Pasadena. This is to be a basket picnic. Coffee will be furnished by the tent. Dinner is scheduled for 4 o'clock and there will be a large banner marking the location of the tables reserved for this organization. Members of N. P. Banks, Sons of Veterans, and their auxiliaries have also been invited to attend. There will be swimming, baseball games and the usual picnic stunts.

Mrs. Woods and daughter Viola of Acacia avenue have just returned from a three weeks' camping trip in Nortern California.

GILLETT TENT OF DAUGHTERS PLAN TO AID HOME

By MRS. GERTRUDE GRIFFIN

Mary Jane Gillett Tent No. 18, a thriving and active unit of the Daughters of Veterans, was organized on April 13, 1920. In its three years' work the members have earner an enviable reputation for patriotic endeavor. Much of their energies have been devoted to the raising of funds for the purpose of building and maintaining a Memorial Home for indigent members of the order. This home is located at Sawtelle and will consist of six units. Each unit is made up of eight rooms and each room has its own kitchenette. Work has been started on the first unit and the construction will be pushed as rapidly as possible. This project is being financed by the forty-one tents in the California and Nevada department and is the first movement of the kind undertaken by the Daughters of Veterans of any department.

The membership in the Glendale tent has increased over 100 per cent each year. Membership in the order is confined to the daughters and granddaughters of Union veterans of the Civil war.

Meetings are held in the American Legion hall, 610 East Broadway, the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month at 8 o'clock.

Officers for the current year are: Mrs. Pearl Moore, president; Irene Fuller, senior vice-president; Jennie Tincher, junior vice-president; Agnes Richardson, patriotic instructor; Esther Wilson, secretary; Cora Jones, treasurer; Dora Hall, chaplain; Audrey Hall, guide; Hattie Tiffany, guard; Alice Sheldon, assistant guard; Gertrude Griffin, press correspondent; Queen Danner, musician; color bearers, Amie Miller, 1; Daphne Lyons, 2; Evelyn Ashman, 3; Leona Hibbert, 4; Council, Susie Peck, Martha Bowen and Alta Bowen.

The order of the National Alliance of the Daughters of Veterans was organized May 30, 1833, in Massilon, Ohio, and is founded on the principle of true loyalty to the government of the United States of America and is opposed to anything disloyal, treasonable or rebellious or anything that will in any manner impair the efficiency and permanency of the national union. Among the objects of the order are the perpetuation of the memories of the veterans of the Civil war, the teaching of patriotism and equal rights of universal liberty, and to assist the Grand Army of the Republic in every way, especially on Memorial Day.

RAINBOW VALLEY IS POPULAR IN FILMDOM

That Rainbow Valley, the new artists' retreat, has struck a popular note among the movie folk is evidenced by the following letter received by J. L. Le Berthon from Miss Lillian Leighton, one of filmdom's most refreshing actresses:

"I take this opportunity to express my great enthusiasm over Rainbow Valley and its intriguing future. In it, you have surely discovered the perfect spot for the artist's week-end colony which you are planning.

"Near enough to Los Angeles to be easy of access and yet sufficiently removed to escape any suggestion of the metropolitan rush from which we must have occasional respite, it would be difficult to imagine a more ideal location for this sort of thing. The scenic attraction is inspiring and the lots, which you are disposing of at so reasonable a figure, are charming.

"In establishing this retreat for artists who, of necessity, lead strenuous, nervous existences, you are filling a great need. In Rainbow Valley, the actor, musician, painter or author can get back to nature amid congenial surroundings. The club house, pool, etc., which you are to provide with no expense to him, are also excellent features.

"Altogether, you have one of the most unusual propositions that I have ever investigated. I am, indeed, happy over my section of Rainbowland; and I wish to thank you for having brought it to my attention.

"Very truly yours,
"LILLIAN LEIGHTON."

SECOND LECTURE AT SOUTHWEST

Interesting and instructive talks have been arranged in connection with the first annual exhibition of the work of California Landscape Architects, which is now being held at the Southwest Museum. The second lecture in the series will be given Sunday afternoon, September 9, at 3 o'clock, by Emanuel Tillman Nische, treasurer Pacific coast chapter of the American Society of Landscape Architects; also former superintendent of parks, city of Portland, Oregon, who will speak on the subject of "City Parks," dwelling upon the scenic beauty that is and should be effected.

The exhibit is an exceedingly good one and gives the public an opportunity to learn what landscape architects are doing for California and our own immediate vicinity.

MICHIGAN PICNIC SATURDAY, SEPT. 15

The Michigan Association of Southern California, which has for nearly 25 years been putting on the mammoth picnic reunions semi-annually is now making this official call for the fall reunion to be held all day Saturday (not Sunday) September 15, Sycamore grove park, Los Angeles.

Dr. M. Parmelee, Boye 3205, is in charge of the plans and arrangements and will preside over the program.

President Parmelee will carry out all the usual happy features of the picnic reunions such as the county registers and headquarters, badges, coffee and program. Picnickers will carry basket dinners. All the Wolverines in all our Southland are included in the wide open and hearty invitation and are asked to pass the word to others from the old-home state.

Michigan folks are assured that announcements of town, county or other picnics will not change this regular annual gathering of the Michiganders of all our Southland.

All desired information may be secured of President Parmelee or of C. H. Parsons, phone 873-511, at the Continental National bank, Ninth and Main streets, where the Michigan registers may always be found.

MRS. MARY KING, 88, BREAKS ARM

Mrs. Mary King of 408 North Maryland, fell Friday morning and suffered an "impacted fracture of the right radius," or in the language of the non-professional, she broke her right wrist. Dr. Laura Brown rendered first aid and put the arm in splits. She also persuaded Mrs. King, who had not left her home for five years, to get into an auto and go to the Glendale sanitarium where an X-ray of the injured member was taken. She is now resting easily, waiting for the arm to mend. She is 88 years of age, a sister of Mrs. Fanny L. Brown, and an aunt of Howard L. Brown.

Frank S. Chase of Potrero returned to his home after spending Thursday and Friday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Chase of 1439 East Wilson avenue.

RINTINTIN, POLICE DOG WONDER, GATEWAY

"Where the North Begins," a screen drama featuring Rintintin, the famous dog, will play again at the Gateway Theater today. It is a drama set in the far north silences with a woman for prize, in which a dog's instincts and intelligence thwart the diabolic cunning of a brute-man.

The story deals with Gabriel Dupre, a young French-Canadian trapper, who returns from a far north trip and finds the Hudson Bay trading post in consternation over the disappearance of five men missing after setting out singly with loads of fur. Gabriel undertakes to make the trip leaving Felice McTavish, his sweetheart, behind, to the tender mercies of Shad Galloway, the tyrannical factor.

Gabriel himself is shot down, wounded and left for dead by a band of outlaws. A wolf attacks him in his weakened condition, but is withheld in time by some inner force—the spirit of devotion of his canine forbears, for he turns out to be a dog who had joined with a wolf-pack. The two become friends, and together succeed in running down the gang of crooks in Galloway's employ. The wolf-dog bears down on Galloway just when Felice is helpless and the camp deserted.

A new juvenile actor, handsome enough to contest the laurels of the long established favorites, is introduced by the Goldwyn company in "Three Wise Fools," which comes to the Gateway Theater Sunday, September 9, William Haines, selected one year ago from thousands of applicants in New York.

As the juvenile lead, working with such actors as Claude Gillingwater, William H. Crane, and Alec Francis, Mr. Haines has a great opportunity, of which he takes full advantage. It happens that the girl in the play is Eleanor Boardman, who came out from New York at the same time and under the same conditions and who has fully justified Mr. McIntyre's judgment in leading roles with Mabel Ballin in "Vanity Fair" and in "Souls for Sale."

Young Haines is a Virginian by birth, and was educated at the Staunton Military Academy, where he was much interested in the college theatricals.

Mrs. S. M. Brooks, 343 North Louise street, returned to Glendale Friday after visiting her granddaughter, Mrs. Roger Williams, at Eugene, Ore. She also stopped at Oxnard to see her daughter, Mrs. R. J. Edmondson.

WHITE SHRINERS OF HOLLYWOOD HONOR E.E. FORD

Members of Omar Tent No. 9, White Shrine of Jerusalem, were guests at a very pleasant affair in the nature of a reception given by Hollywood Shrine in honor of Ernest E. Ford, supreme watchman of the shepherds, on Friday night. They met first at the Masonic Temple, Glendale, for a short business session at 7:30 o'clock and then proceeded to Hollywood.

A feature of the program at Hollywood was the talk by a princess from Jerusalem, who told of the manners and customs of people there. She appeared in native costume and gave some of the songs and sacred dances of the country. Mrs. Evelyn Pierce, worthy high priestess of Omar Shrine of Glendale, gave several readings. Refreshments of ice cream and cake and the table decorations carried out a color scheme of yellow and white.

On September 25, Omar Shrine members are planing to visit Pasadena Shrine and put on the work.

OFFENSES MADE WORSE

The calamity that has overtaken Japan affects to some degree the whole world. Everywhere that the message has been received there must be an acute sympathy for a people so direfully afflicted.

In the light of recent events, the manner upon which the entire social structure depends upon the integrity of each element entering into the whole, is vividly emphasized. Calamity on a huge scale cannot visit one part of the world and leave the rest just as it had been. This manifestly is true concerning moral conditions as well as material.

When a man or group of men contemplates some act that will influence the happiness or welfare of many who do not seem directly concerned, they are ignoring a plain and vital truth. They have no right to consider themselves alone. They are but units in a mass, and to their conduct the other units must react.

Just now, in addition to the woes of Japan, of world-wide interest, is the situation in Europe. The first may be ascribed to the act of God, and there is no human responsibilty, save as to giving aid to the victims. The United States is prosperous, able to give aid, willing to do so. Then anything that tends to lessen prosperity in the United States at this time, is an injury to a suffering country across the Pacific. The waterfront striker, leaving his task at a critical time ought to think of this. He ought to be ashamed of the paltry excuse that traitors to the United States are serving prison sentences. Similar thought should appeal to the coal operator and to the coal miner. Neither realizes the depth of his own selfishness. Each thinks that he is concerned about his own interests only. Both are grossly in error.

Mussolini, dictator of Italy, and apparently desirous of extending his sway, takes a course likely to hurl Europe into a dreadful war. The wounded honor of Italy may be understood. In some circumstances the protest might have been justifiable; not in circumstances as they exist. What Lord Palmerston may have done on a previous occasion in regard to the murder of an English subject, does not constitute a good precedent. At least Palmerston did not take action likely to involve specifically a large part of the civilized world, and to threaten civilization in its entirety.

As the baseness of an offense must be estimated by the results, this present perilous and troubled hour is a time for all to walk seemly; for the laborer or the statesman to watch his step, and not to forget the futility of trying to be a law unto himself.

SYMPATHY AND THE PROFITEER

With the announcement of large contributions for the relief of Japan come indications that the profiteer will be ready to use the distress of a friendly nation for purposes of gain. In response to the law of supply and demand, certain commodities already show a tendency to rise in price.

It might be wished that in such an emergency pity were permitted to sway a law that has come to be regarded as inexorable. If the dealers in steel and cotton, for example, were making a fair profit before, it should not be impossible for them to continue to be satisfied with the same scale of profits. Their business would be bound to increase. If they were to be satisfied with the increase, swelling as it would, their legitimate gains, a course in accordance with such impulse would be fine and humane. Whether the course shall be taken remains to be determined. The chances are that it will not.

It is said that the entire rice crop of California will be used for Japan and that the process will be free from profiteering. Thus is set a noble example. There is hope that it may not be exceptional.

Meanwhile the sympathies of the people in general continue to go out towards the crushed and impoverished and sorrowing millions of Japan. It is to be hoped that for the credit of this generation, the contributions shall be early and ample.

APPROACHING PERFECT EQUALITY

A judge of the superior court of Los Angeles county has just ordered a wife to pay alimony to her husband pending the trial of their divorce. This is not the first ruling of the kind. Doubtless there will be some protest against the new violation of an old custom. However, it seems to be in perfect accord with the desire, so frequently expressed, for a perfect equality of sexes before the law.

When a young woman marries a old man, as in the instance in point, the chances are that she has a purpose not inspired of affection. Behind her act there is likely to be the hope of an affluent widowhood. If she is disappointed, the elderly husband turning out not to be rich, or to insist on living although not very useful as a breadwinner, it is quite futile for her to look about for sympathy. If she can make out a case convincing the court that she is deserving of freedom, that is another matter. But in the interval, were circumstances reversed, the husband would be obliged to support her. The case being as it is, the duty of supporting the husband appears to fall upon her fairly enough.

Individually she may not regard the outcome as a triumph, but nevertheless it is a victory for a much-lauded principle. It is the advance announcement of a perfect equality.

GRAIN COST PRODUCTION

Reports compiled from the statements of 4000 farmers in all parts of the country set forth that the cost of producing wheat is $1.23 a bushel; of corn, 66 cents, and of oats 53 cents. Against these figures are average sales prices respectively of $1.11 for wheat, 73 cents for corn and 48 cents for oats. This represents a loss on wheat and oats, and not a wide margin of gain on corn.

One would be rash to assume the correctness of these figures; or at least the correctness of the portrayal of the situation expressed by them. In many parts of the finest agricultural districts embraced in such states as Iowa and Illinois, there has been within the last few years a tremendous boom in the price of land. Farms that had been reckoned at $100 an acre were sold for double this amount or more. They had been bought for speculation at that. Some of them doubled again. The natural result was that the last buyer was unable to meet his obligations. Or having met them, he found himself with three or four times the amount of capital invested than there was legitimate reason for investing. Striving to earn dividends on this was much similar to the effort of corporations to declare dividends on watered stock. It threw farming as a business into deep confusion, adding to the cost of production greatly.

It is as necessary for farming to be on a sound basis as for any other industry to be normal. Land that might fairly be quoted at say $150, but that has been bought at $750, cannot be expected to pay. No price for crops could make it pay, for such a price would put the stuff out of reach of the consumer, forcing him to a meager diet of roots and herbs.

General Weyler, who organized the Cuban concentration camp in 1897, and who won the unenviable title of "Butcher," is said to be about to visit the United States. He wants to study the methods by which the splendid army that went to France was organized. That organization considered in regard to time or results, was wonderful. In building up an army, however, this country had an advantage that is far beyond the attainment of Spain. It was able to draw upon a wealth of material in a free people devoted to principle. However, Weyler is an old man now, and if he does come, courtesy demands that the title he won in Cuba be dropped during his stay.

ISHMAEL

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

When a wild animal in a circus or zoo "goes bad" they kill him.

And nobody thinks of Ishmael whose "hand was against every man" against whom was the hand of every man.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

Vicious beasts must die, but the men who made them vicious live on to make other beasts and other people vicious. We don't kill the men; we do not even imprison them; usually we do not punish them or even think about them; yet if you wish to know what a ruthless human can do to a kindly beast read "Michael, Brother of Jerry" by Jack London.

I could canonize Jack London for writing that book and Jack London did many things undeserving of any such honor as canonization.

The point is that he looked into and felt sympathy for the limitations of the lesser forms of life—and that is a manifestation of greatness and nobility that is rare and extremely valuable in the evolution of the race.

If you make a beast love you it will through the alchemy of its love do other things than those laid down in the sealed orders. It will risk its life, bear pain and privation, follow you and obey you.

But many people who train things, animals and children, slaves and employees do not understand the alchemy of love, and if they do they often are incapable of commanding the feeling that lures obedience from the soul like a siren song. And so they resort to cruelty, and the result is another Ishmael.

The name of Joaquin Murietta was once a terror in California. He was one of the Ishmaels of the world, but he became an outlaw as a result of tremendous suffering and outrage.

That does not justify him; it only in a measure explains him, for who knows what distortions take place in souls as a result of unmerited suffering?

Whenever I hear of an outlaw animal I wonder who broke its heart, and I wondet rhat about old Charlie.

He must die now, which is perhaps the most merciful thing that can happen to him. If he lives he will kill because he fears men; they stand for agony, danger and outrage to him, and he knows no way to protect himself from such things except to kill those who inflict them.

I've known murderers who felt as Charlie feels, perhaps because they were unable to discriminate as the beast is unable to discriminate. Anyhow, it is pathetic that we still believe in pain as a means of discipline.

It is pain of body and mind that makes the sons of Ishmael and they are to those who can see, the army of the pitiful. Ishmael perishing with thirst in the desert is a symbol of the spiritual thirst that converts loving things into outlaws and menaces.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

Tully Hatch has a sister-in-law who is, in the opinion of the affiant, the most addlepated fool in all our states and territories. Tully says he wouldn't mind her folly if she were stilly pretty.

"They're just as big fools—or bigger—when they are young and pretty," he says, "but they can get away with folly better than when they develop complexions that look like suede gloves."

So far as I can unravel the threads of Tully's cynicism, he feels that young and pretty girls can get their own way because the men fear to lose them.

"I've seen a strong, stalwart husband curl up like a snail when his darling threatened to leave him," said Tully. "He knew she would, and that she could find another man ready to pay the freight, regardless of her feather-headedness."

Tully does not say these things in criticism. The laws of nature are irrevocable, he says, and apply to wives and husbands just as well as to wheat and wind. He rather rejoices in this period of freedom which every girl enjoys. Thel, he says, referring to the younger element of the sex, certainly do make us men jump through and roll over. But when they get a bit shopworn they should behave, Tully says.

"That's what makes me peevish with this sister-in-law of mine," says he. "It isn't in the nature of things for a fine, stalwart, prosperous chap like Mac is, to take all that foolishness from a wrinkled woman. One of these days she'll say:

"'I'm going to leave you,' and Mac will say:

Being foolish isn't near as kittenish and enticing, he says, when the fool has passed forty.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

More time!
There ought to be enough.
Sixty seconds of it to every minute.
Sixty minutes to every hour.
Twenty-four hours to every day.

* * *

JAMES W. FOLEY

Three hundred and sixty-five days to every year.

And twelve months to the year.

Time and time and time.
Time immemorial, we say.
And again we speak of eternity.
Which is all of time.

* * *

So we have all the time there is.

Variously set apart and divided and subdivided.

And yet few people seem to have enough time.

They rush about with wild eyes.
Enter breathlessly and depart on the run.
Sprint and race and hurry.
Not enough time.

* * *

Ask one of the busy people to sit down a moment and take his breath.
Not enough time.
No time to think things over.
Hurry and scurry and flurry.
Red-faced and perspiring.
Up and down they go.

* * *

Here and there.
Back and forth.
Hither and yon.
Up and down.
In and out.
To and fro.
Hurrying along.

* * *

For what?

Business, perhaps.

What is the use of so much business if there is no time to enjoy anything.

Pleasure, they say.

* * *

No time to look at anything.
No time to hear anything.
No time to say anything except "back in a minute."
Burning up the roads.
Gasoline popping and fizzing.
Rubber smelling.
Tooting and whistling and shouting and clanging and banging and rolling and tumbling.

* * *

All for what?
Nobody knows.
It is the way of the age.
Not time enough.

Engagements and luncheons and foursomes and meetings and teas and clubs and dinners and dances and theatres.

* * *

Not time enough.
No time to converse.
Nothing to converse about.
No time to rest.
No time for peace and quiet.
No time for reflection.

Songs of the Poets

The Good Great Man— By Samuel Coleridge

How seldom, friend, a good great man inherits
Honor or wealth, with all his worth and pains!
It seems a story from the land of spirits
When any man obtains that which he merits,
Or any merit that which he obtains.

For shame, dear friend! renounce this canting strain!
What wouldst thou have a good great man obtain?
Wealth, title, dignity, a gilded chain,
Or throne of corpses which his sword had slain?
Greatness and goodness are not means, but ends.
Hath he not always treasures, always friends—
The good great man? Three treasures—love and light,
And calm thoughts, equable as infant's breath;
And three firm friends, more sure than day and night—
Himself, his Maker and the Angel Death.

HOW TO REVERENCE THE PAST

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE way to reverence the Past is to use it in improving the Present.

All the value of the Past to the Present is that from it we may learn to make a better Future.

You honor the foundation stones when you build a beautiful house upon them, not when you refuse to build anything on them and leave them to be covered with sacrosanct moss.

Our fathers toiled that we might go on from where they left off. We do not honor, we rather despise them, when we begin where they began and do no more than they did.

Every father wants his children to have more advantages than he had himself. This is the instinct of progress in the human race, the manner of the forward push of humanity.

The greatest benefactor of mankind is Man. We living are advanced because of the labors of them now dead. Because our fathers thought and schemed and toiled I can get a drink out of the faucet instead of having to carry a bucket of water up three flights of stairs; I can get war by turning a little wheel on the radiator instead of spending half my time gathering wood or digging coal; I can telephone from New York to Boston instead of having to send a messenger on horseback as the contemporaries of G. Washington did; I can light my apartment by pushing a button instead of using flint, tinder and candle or even a smelly kerosene lamp.

All of these things are not mere luxuries that make me soft and fat; they save me infinite menial labor and release my powers to do something more important than hewing wood and drawing water.

We have only a hired girl or two in our apartment, but really when we think of what the dead have done for us we have a thousand menials waiting upon us.

Because of the laws and inventions they made, the food is prepared and put easily upon our table, the matter of the clothing and the selection and preparation thereof is reduced to a minimum (I speak of a male being); and all the energy we have is loosed to do something worth while.

What a pity people cannot realize this in politics! What a vast amount of maudlin sentiment mixed with sheer ignorance is displayed by many who are anxious for us to return to the ways of our fathers. Those fathers would be the last to want us to return to their ways, and would be most indignant to see that we had not improved upon them.

The business of the human race is to go on, not to stand still or to go back.

And the safety of the race is to be found only in going on. Statesmen, theologians and philosophers have exerted themselves in order to make humanity safe by making it stand still. But the only salvation is in progress.

The nation that never has reforms, revolutions or changes is usually thoroughly rotten.

The nation that is the most secure is the one that is changing and reforming all the time, the one in which the ways of evolution are kept always open.

(Copyright, 1923, by Dr. Frank Crane)

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

AMERICA AND REPARATIONS

[Manchester Union]

Columns of solemn editorial writing about the restating of the American position relative to an economic conference are being written, and if it were the intention of some of the writers to stir up mud in a stream that is as clear as crystal a more successful job could not be done.

In the New Haven speech Secretary of State Hughes said the government was willing to co-operate in such an undertaking if invited to do so. The government was not in position to call an economic conference, but would gladly take part in one. President Coolidge has said substantially the same. The state department has repeated it in an identic note sent to our representatives in the countries that would be chiefly interested.

That is all plain enough, but somehow it doesn't appear plain to some of our people who profess to think that it is all vague, indefinite, nebulous. Others, of course, rush to the extreme of assuming that our government is about to take the initiative in the bringing about of a conference, and this adds to the confusion.

Why not take the simple fact as it stands? The Coolidge administratiou—like the Harding administration—is willing to participate in a conference called by some other government; it will not call one.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

HENRY JAMES

In literature are many references to the kindliness of Nature. The truth is that Nature has no emotions. It functions as an implacable force. So far as it affects this little globe, it shows no concern for the welfare of the people crawling here.

Man struggles to wrest a living from the soil on which he has been placed. The seasons follow in rotation, so that, in a general way, there is seedtime and harvest. To bring the harvest to perfection is rare. It means the overcoming of a thousand enemies. There are in addition to destructive elements, organisms that have no mission but to prey on the seed in the ground, on the growing stem, on the forming grain and fruit.

"As solid as the earth" becomes a meaningless phrase. "The everlasting hills" is but poetic license.

Time was when such a visitation as has smitten Japan would have been described as the expression of divine will, meant as a punishment. Men have learned better than this. They do not profess to interpret the processes of evolution; merely to realize them and study them. The surface of this globe has not been finally adjusted. From time to time, following some law that science does not understand, strata shift, the land heaves, the deeps of the sea become turmoil. Cities, that men had builded in hope and confidence go down in ruin. Men perish by countless thousands in places where they had deemed themselves to be secure.

Yet in their ignorance the older leaders of thought ascribed these catastrophes to the wrathful whim of the Almighty.

The ideal prizefight took place recently at San Antonio. The men in the ring landed blows simultaneously, and each blow was a complete knockout. The scrappers fell together, and each stayed long enough to be counted out.

The fact is recorded regretfully that they came back after that, the blows having been less forceful than hoped.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

FINDING A PLACE

Many a high school graduate is wrinkling his brows and squirming about under a fire of questioning this season of the year.

"Now, just what do you want to be?" inquires father benignly.

"Yes," says mother cheerily, "Tell us what your plans are. Then we'll know better how to help you."

The youngster wishes he knew how to answer them. He longs for something clever to say and the words with which to say it. But nothing comes, except, "Well—er—I think—"

"Yes, yes," says father hopefully. "What do you think?"

"Er, well, whatever you say!" stammers the child.

For children they are, although they have been graduated with great ceremony and a beribboned roll. The general high school graduate of today seems to be younger in every way than those of an older day. Few of them have the attitude of grave responsibility toward life and a career that we had at their age. Perhaps!

The truth of the matter is that the great part of healthy youngsters have but a very indefinite notion of what they want to be. So many avenues leading outward confront them that they need a good clear finger post to help them out a bit.

Was'nt there a friend who strongly advised you what and how and when to do? Father or mother or kindly relative who pushed and prodded and dragged you a part of the way?

Youth ever has reluctant feet and the firm propulsion of a well-wisher is needed if they are to cross the first bridge on time.

Even if the bridge carry them a bit out of the way they finally decide to go, the start will be entirely lost. There is no law that says one must select his road and stick to it though it lead to the very place one least desires to go. That's just the point.

The usual adolescent does not know where he wishes to go. He is likely to mistake vague yearnings toward high altitudes as talents. He is inclined to feel that he had convictions where he has but very wobbly second hand opinions. He is very likely to be possessed with the idea that he is wise beyond the wisdom of years.

But be not deceived. Behind all that there is a frightened, confused and helpless child feeling his way out of the most difficult place that will be his for many a year to come. Help him!

If he cannot help you are to help him, take the matter into your own hands and help him anyway. That's what we grown-up people are for. There would be no excuse for our cumbering the ground if there were no silly, trying, needy youngsters for us to hold up and push on.

It's all very hard on our comfortable middle age, of course, but the reward comes in the later time when they are going ahead under their own power and we sit in our arm chairs and beam upon them and remember the time when——.

THE NEW OAKLAND SIX FOR 1924 ARRIVES

NEW OAKLAND SIX IS HERE AND IS PROVING TO BE REAL SENSATION

Many Local Automobile Buyers Have Already Given the "Once Over" to This Latest of Arrivals—Say "It's the Goods"

ENTIRELY NEW CAR IS OFFERED

Four Wheel Brake, New Motor, Improved Rear Axle, New Control Position are Features of 1924 Car Offered by Ricketts, Dealer

By THOS. E. RICKETTS
Glendale Oakland Dealer

An entirely new Oakland six has arrived. It is unqualifiedly an entirely new car, embracing practices and principles heretofore confined only to the more expensive automobiles. This new creation of the Oakland Motor Car company outstrips every conception of what has been expected in a car that sells at the low price of the Oakland. And new low prices are in effect. No attempt has been made to reduce quality in order to lower prices. Many expensive features have been added.

Just how long these new lower prices will remain in force is only a conjecture, and when one weighs the quality embodied in this new car and the many expensive features included in the assembly, it is obvious that the new low price sets a new mark in high value for little money.

4 WHEEL BRAKES

The most apparent change is the use of four-wheel brakes and in this respect the Oakland is the first car selling for less than $1000 to be so equipped. These brakes are of the mechanical type with specially devised equalizers and cannot lock the steering apparatus of the car.

At first glance this new creation as it stands upon the showroom floor is an ensemble of beauty. Each line of each model melts away in graceful curves, gentle swells and concave surfaces until the transformation welds itself into the vision of a motor car.

The open models have heavier bodies with a distinctive molding just below the top of the sides. The doors are wide and substantial. Even the open bodies are the product of the Fisher Body company.

The tops are permanent and are unusually low. The entire height of the car is but two inches more than six feet. By using permanent tops, a new type of storm curtain can be used and these eliminate the usual struggle in fitting curtains.

NEW MOTOR

An entirely new motor provides motive power for this newcomer. It is the same size bore and stroke as the 1923 Oakland, but it is of the L-head type and is said to develop 15 per cent more power than the former valve-in-the-head motor used by Oakland. This new motor is built entirely by the Oakland Motor Car company and is interesting because of its many innovations of design. First of all, the motor can be detached at the head, at the base of the cylinders and at the crank case. The Ricardo type combustion chamber which produces extremely high compression and brings the spark plug into position where it offers its maximum firing efficiency in relation to the gases in the chamber is an exclusive feature. The crankshaft is heavier and the bearings are longer than in last year's motor and the lubrication is by the force feed and hollow crankshaft system.

The water passages completely encircle the cylinders in this motor and the valves, even though they have larger openings than before are also provided with ample water circulation in order to increase their efficiency. A new type fan is also a feature.

The adoption of the L-head type motor means the elimination of numerous working parts and bearing surfaces of the valves and this means resultant less noise. Lubrication of the valves is automatic.

LUBRICATION

A new system of oil lubrication under pressure instead of grease is used throughout the chassis of the car. This makes it possible to force 600W or some similar oil into all the bearings.

REAR AXLE

A new type axle is used in the rear. This of the banjo method of construction which provides greater accessibility and added rigidity. It is semi-floating and the differential, ring gear, pinions and the third member are built up as a unit and bolted to the housing. The axles are made at the factory and the gears are the product of Brown Lips Chapin manufacture. Hyatt heavy duty roller bearings are used in the rear wheels and also to carry the differential.

The clutch is now of the single plate dry disc type. Especially noteworthy is the ease with which shifts to lower speeds may be made. For example, it is possible to drive at 30 miles an hour in high gear and shift to second without a crashing of gears and without damaging the transmission.

NEW CONTROL POSITION

The control of the car is entirely removed from the instrument board and is grouped in a compact arrangement at the top of the steering column. Here, the horn button, the choke, the throttle and the ignition and lighting switches are quickly accessible.

The spark control is entirely eliminated by the adoption of an automatic advance and retard.

The new Oakland is made in seven attractive models. Touring car and Roadster are finished in Holland blue with red striping and disc wheels to match. The Sport Roadster and Phaeton are in a Cerulean tone of Blue with orange striping and disc wheels to match. The five passenger Sedan, four passenger Coupe and the Business Coupe are finished in blue with black upper structure. Five disc wheels are standard equipment on all models.

A new method of rebound control in the springs also gives the car more comfort on rough roads. In tests the car was driven over deep ruts and "thank you mams" and those in the rear seat were amazed at the smoothness of the car.

DAMAGE IS GREAT

Brainless Boobs Abound in These Parts Says Ranger

By RANGER BILL

"Did you ever notice how many people there are who seem to have a weak cog somewheres in their make-up?" said Ranger Bill as he threw a bunch of new enamel signs that had been shot full of holes in the woodshed. "Mind you, I don't claim such folks are what you would call 'foolish,' but they sure must lack good sense to pull some of the tricks they do. Of course sometimes it's due to thoughtlessness, but pure cussedness would be more like it, I reckon, in a good many cases.

"Who'm I alluding to? Why, just them folks, big and small, that go around shooting up signs and writing their names on rocks and trees and buildings and any old handy place. We get a lot of them up here on the National Forests in the summer time—natives and city people and 'dudes' out on a vacation, who either think it's smart to make a pepper box out of a sign or else want to leave a monument to themselves by scribbling all over the landscape. You know that old saying about 'Fools names * * *'?

"You think I'm putting it too strong? Well, I don't. If you could trade places with me for a season and see some of the stunts of these vandals, you'd know why I get hot under the Stetson. Let's look at this business with common sense. Here's the Forest Service and the automobile associations of the state spending a lot of good money each year to put up fine enamel signs so that our own folks and all the people who visit California can tour around in the mountains without getting lost. Then along comes some smart Aleck with a gun and—Bang! Bang!—another sign is shot full of holes and ready for the ash heap. And it isn't only one, but thousands of them that get made into a sieve that-a-way. Seems like these fellows would appreciate rather than depreciate a sign, and think a bit about the people that's coming after. Every time a sign is badly defaced a new one has to be made and put up, and that means more money and work. Once in a while we catch these

SANTA SUSANA PASS LURES TOURIST

To the eastern tourist, lured to Southern California by promise of a peaceful vacation, little remains of the stirring history which forms a striking background for our civilization. But to the true Californian, there are many reminders that all was not so peaceful in the "days of '49."

The chain of Missions founded by valiant Padres is a precious heirloom, while whole sections of the country shout, to those who listen, of the days when marauding bandits swept through industrious settlements leaving a trail of blood and havoc; of the vigilantes, organized to combat lawlessness throughout the mining camps, and of the final triumph of law and order.

Such a region is Santa Susana Pass. Easily reached by motor car over 32 miles of paved roads through San Fernando and Chatsworth, it offers a delightful site for Sunday picnics.

Immense boulders lie piled upon one another, as though giant prospectors had used them for boundary markers. Perfect faces have been carved out of the rocks by natural erosion, while caves, bridges and fantastic shapes make a landscape at once awe inspiring and beautifully scenic.

DON'T ROCK THE BOAT

A noise on the bottom of a boat will do more than anything else to scare away a school of bass, perch or trout. Talking in the boat is not of any consideration, but a sharp blow on the bottom or a careless kick of the sides of boat will serve to disturb fish that are feeding about the vicinity of the boat.—Sportsman's Digest

72,000 ACRES OF LAND OF GOVERNMENT BURNED OVER BY FOREST FIRES

Seventy Per Cent of the 610 Fires in Hills up to August 20 Were Caused by Careless Campers, Cigarette Butts and Camp Fires.

SEVENTY- FOUR CAMPERS PAY FINES

Practically All Fires in So uthern California This Year Could Have Been Averted — In Santa Barbara Forest 60,000 Acres Burned Over

Over 70 per cent of the 610 fires that have occurred up to August 20 this year in the national forests of California were man-caused, according to the United States forest service . These fires burned over 72,000 acres of government land, and 34,000 acres of private property within and adjacent to the federal forests. Out of a total of 124 fires in the Angeles, Santa Barbara and Cleveland national forests of Southern California, all but six were due to human carelessness, largely that of smokers, campers and sportsmen. Fires on the Santa Barbara national forest, set by the carelessness of campers and by incendiaries, have burned over 60,000 acres of chaparral and timber covered mountain slopes which were of inestimable value for watershed protection purposes. Sventy-four convictions for carelessness with fire in the woods have been secured by the Forest Service to date; the fines ranging from $50 to $500, with jail sentences in some of the more flagrant cases.

World's Timber Supply is Steadily Dwindling

The growth of timber in the world is only two-thirds of the amount consumed. The United States uses half of all the timber cut, yet has less than one-tenth of the forest land area of the globe. Soft woods such as pines, firs and spruces comprise three-fourths of all the timber used. Tropical forests, although vast in extent, contribute very little as yet to the world's needs. World commerce in timber, the bulk of which comes from northern Europe and North America, amounts annually to $650,000,000 on the basis of pre-war values. The timber supply of the world is steadily dwindling, while the demand is constantly increasing. These and many other interesting facts about forests and timber requirements are set forth in a new book on the "Forest Resources of the World," by Raphael Zon and William N. Sparhawk of the United States Forest Service. The work, which is in two volumes, contains 1,000 pages with 16 colored maps, and is published by a leading New York book company.

California Counties Benefit from National Forest Receipts

Nearly one and one-half million dollars out of the receipts from the National Forests of California have been turned over, since 1908, to the various counties of the state in which these federal holdings are located, reports the United States Forest Service. This fund, which represents 25 per cent of the money taken in by the government from the sale or timber, grazing fees and other forest resources, is made available for the benefit of roads and schools. Besides this sum, the Forest Service also expended, during the same period, an additional 10 per cent of the receipts from the forests, amounting to over $480,000, in the construction of minor roads and trails in the mountains. This latter amount is in addition to the large expenditures authorized by Congress for National Forest construction.

Two Crews Are on the Job—Working Steadily

There remains less than a mile and one-half of road to be finished for the completion of the Deep Creek cut-off between Arrowhead Woods and Big Bear Lake.

Two crews have been constructing the new road for some months. The one starting at the westerly end has completed six miles and the other, starting near the dam of Big Bear Lake, has built about three and one-half miles.

This road will cross the dam and follow a high-line route, in all probability, and add a very scenic drive to the section. It was expected that definite action would

New Jewett Six Touring Car

Twelve Improvements—No Increase in Price

Here's the NEW JEWETT SIX, Paige-built, with 12 major improvements and countless refinements, but at no increase in price. Shrewd car buyers, who have always recognized the value Jewett Six gives, now acclaim it the most car for the money that has ever been built! The Standard touring model shown—$1065 f.o.b. factory

Here Are the Twelve Improvements

1—Larger brake drums—now 14 in.
2—Heavier, stronger wheels
3—Pressure oiled chassis
4—Improved valve mechanism
5—Improved Rayfield carburetor
6—More convenient gear-shift
7—New type spark and throttle control
8—New instrument board—oval panel
9—New type non-glaring headlight reflectors
10—Thicker upholstery in open models
11—Deeper front seats—tilted
12—Velour upholstery in standard sedans

In addition, the NEW JEWETT SIX has the same "pep"—the same marvelous power—the same unusual flexibility [from 2 to 60 miles an hour in high] that has won it fame everywhere. And Jewett's full 50 h. p. Paige-built motor STAYS good, due to the same high-pressure, hollow crankshaft oiling system used on the big Paige and other top quality cars.

Look them all over—then come in and drive this NEW JEWETT SIX. You cannot match it anywhere for $1065 factory. Phone anytime for a demonstration.

"Now look at those autograph sharks and some of their artistic work. Why, only last week I found the name of a professor of one of our big state universities scribbled over the newly painted door of a lookout station up at 10,000 feet. What do you suppose his idea was? If he wanted me to know he'd called why didn't he leave a card or write on a piece of paper? If I can tie-in with him I'm sure going to make him back-track up there and scrub that name off with Sapolio. The new cut-off on Clark Grade has been open for three weeks and makes travel far easier into or out of the valley by that route. The new road is much wider and has an easier grade, and the sharp turns that exist on the old road have no counterpart in the engineering of the new one.

A driver made the trip by way of Waterman Canyon to Arrowhead Lake, stopping overnight there and then making the run over the Rim of the World to Big Bear the next morning.

Waterman Canyon Grade and the Rim of the World drive are in good condition, although dusty, and the operation of the new control at Big Bear Lake is a decided advantage over the former system.

Announcing the 1924 Oakland "6"

It's Brand New—and True Blue

This True Blue Oakland was deliberately planned to be the most perfectly balanced, the most accurately engineered and the finest built light-six in the world.

Two years have been devoted to its design, manufacture and test. Two years—plus the wealth of Oakland experience gained through many other years of exclusive light-six manufacture and the limitless resources of General Motors.

From axle to axle—it's new! It embodies features of mechanical superiority—of beauty and comfort and performance—heretofore unheard of in cars of its price! Every single part—from the new engine to the new bodies—was designed and built to fit and function in perfect harmony with every other part.

And because it has been so carefully designed, so soundly built and so thoroughly tested—Oakland places upon it, without hesitation, the same written 15,000 mile engine performance guarantee and the same Mileage-Basis gauge of value that have proved the quality and the value and the excellence of Oakland cars for years!

Special Showing All Week—You Are Invited!

Come in and see this True Blue Oakland—built to be the finest light-six!

Study its exclusive features and you will marvel at the value built into this car at its new low price.

Test its four-wheel brakes—an outstanding safety achievement on a car of Oakland's price! Note how simple they are; learn why they require so much less attention than conventional two-wheel brakes.

Inspect the brand new engine—smoother, quieter and more powerful than even its highly successful predecessor, the Six-44.

See the new blue bodies built by Fisher. The top is permanent with new side curtains comparing in snugness and utility to the doors of a closed car. Controls are centralized on the steering wheel. Disc steel wheels are standard at no added cost.

See this new Oakland at our special showing this week! Don't miss the first public exhibition of this True Blue car—the latest and finest achievement of the Oakland Division of General Motors.

RICKETS DRIVES FROM COAST TO COAST

By way of diversion, Thos. E. Ricketts and his party in an Oakland coupe made the transcontinental trip from New York to Los Angeles over the Yellowstone Trail, Columbia River Highway and the Pacific Coast Highway to California.

This little diversion changed the entire destiny of the future of Ricketts because he became so firmly convinced that the Oakland was a real motor car that he made up his mind to get busy and make a lot of people happy selling Oaklands to them.

And what is more it served as the means of again increasing the population of Southern California, due to the fact that Ricketts accidently rode into Glendale and liked the place so well that he decided to make it his home for the rest of his life.

"I had long been connected with the General Motors in New York and I gained a lot of inside information about motor cars through that source," says Ricketts. "When I decided to drive across the country, I went over to the Oakland dealer in New York and told him what I had in mind and he advised me to take the five passenger coupe and I did. The way that car performed on our 5872 mile trip was evidence enough for me that the car was right and that somebody was going to make a lot of money cashing in on the popularity that would surely come to such a car."

In relating incidents of his long trip to the representative of the Glendale Press, Ricketts recited: "We took 4 days to make the run from New York by way of Philadelphia to Chicago and the roads were wonderfully good. From Chicago we drove to Minneapolis where we met the Yellowstone trail that took us through North Dakota and then to Billings, Montana. From there we followed the course in the Yellowstone Park, making the complete loop of the park and seeing every point of interest in that great wonderland. Having entered at Livingstone, we left the park at the same place and the next point we stopped was at Helena. From there we found the roads very good to Wallace and on to Spokane. The country around the latter place is a veritable garden of Eden, with fruits and flowers and trees in abaundance.

"From Pendleton we drove over the Columbia River Highway to Portland and let me say here, that that piece of highway is the greatest in all the world, for scenic beauty as well as a road to ride upon.

"We followed the Pacific Highway to San Francisco and the going was tough in spots. Near Grant's Pass the detours are enough to wreck a car and any one who boasts of California's wonderful roads should see what northern motorists have to contend with.

"We used 33⅓ gallons of gasoline and 8 quarts of oil in our travels which means an average of 18.15 miles on a gallon of gasoline."

BANISHES THE SKID

If the service brakes seem to hold unevenly, causing the car to skid when stopping quickly on wet pavements, use the emergency brake in conjunction with the service brake. It's just a case of taking a chance on the probability of equalizing the braking force on both brakes. This stunt only applies where emergency brake operates on rear wheels; otherwise the skid can best be prevented by simply using the emergency.

WILLYS-OVERLAND SHOP 'SHELLS 'EM OUT'

Willys-Overland built its millionth car recently.

It is a far cry back to 1908, when John N. Willys began to pump the pulmotor into Overland. This wonder worker had bought the unused parts from the former builder of the Overland and started the present Willys-Overland Co. in Indianapolis with a capital of only $1,500, later moving to Toledo. That year he raised his pile to $6,500 and jumped it to $265,000 the following year.

Surely the president and founder of the company has every excuse in the completion of his millionth car to do a little looking backward and pointing with pride to his accomplishment.

"One million cars. Think of it!" says President Willys. "Fifteen years ago a goal for dreams; today a background of inspiration; an incentive for future effort. This is not merely an accomplishment in production. It is an accomplishment in civilization.

"One million Overlands and Willys-Knights are playing a tremendous part in the life and happiness of present-day American. They are putting hundreds of thousands of families on swift wheels. They are multiplying the earning-power of men. They are lightening and quickening the work of women. They are assisting greatly in the education of children.

Overland and Willys-Knight cars are taking the city to the country and bringing the country to the city. They are promoting friendly relations and widening the scope of beneficial contract everywhere.

"With production now starting on the second million, we realize an obligation to continue giving the utmost value. For the building of our first million motor cars we have also built an enormous responsibility to the public which it will be our constant purpose to uphold."

The Smith-Stone, Inc., 226 South Brand, is dispenser of the Willys-Knight in San Fernando valley.

CUT IN PRICE BRINGS BIG BUSINESS

The substantial reduction in Chevrolet prices announced September 1 caused great surprise to the automobile world in view of the common opinion that good grounds existed for expecting higher prices. All Chevrolet dealers state they had no intimation that a reduction was coming as they knew that for more than six months the Chevrolet Motor company has been unable to fill half the volume of orders, received Janesville, Wisconsin, Buffalo, three new assembly plants at Janesville, Wisconsin, Buffalo, New York, Cincinnati, Ohio, and six new body plants adjoining assembly plants are rapidly building up production so that it is believed the company will shortly be in a position to fill a much larger proportion of its orders as it is a fixed policy of the Chevrolet Motor company to price its products as low as production costs permit.

The greatly increased production now possible with seven assembly and six body plants and four parts plants insures construction and overhead savings reflected in the new list prices and which constitute an important step toward still more economical transportation.

C. L. Smith, local Chevrolet dealer, corner Orange and Colorado, reports that G. L. Moffatt, Chevrolet dealer at Graybull, Wyoming, has just arrived in Glendale after covering 1600 miles over all kinds of roads, the distance between two cities having been covered in five days. During the trip he averaged over 300 miles per day and 23 miles to the gallon of gasoline.

P. CARNEY, EAGLE ROCK GARAGE MAN GETS SONS BUSY

Setting his two sons up in business, P. Carney, popular Eagle Rock garage man, has purchased the Valley Garage and Machine Shop, acquiring the place from Gurnee & Jolson. The business formerly was conducted under the name of the Happy Valley Garage.

While Carney, senior, puts in many hard licks on busted radiators and the like every day he has placed the two "Carney boys" in charge of the busy establishment.

"The boys are first class mechanics, but I want to give them a start in business for themselves," the father explains. "I think every father should do that much for his boys," he added.

Carney's sons are Jack and Ted, aged 19 and 21 years respectively.

The Carney boys' garage is a first class affair, with complete and modern equipment for doing all kinds of automobile repairing. In addition to repairing of cars the young garage men maintain a battery service and are prepared to do welding, reboring and regrinding work. The boys also operate a wrecking service and are on the job night and day.

PROPER BREEDING BRINGS RESULTS

It is very apparent to the dog world at large that the owner who breeds his canines with any degree of intelligence will always profit in the end. Incestuous breeding is not permitted in the human race because of disastrous results, so it is only natural that this also is the case among dogs. This does not mean that the common law of inbreeding among dogs should be disregarded altogether, but it stands to reason that a continuous habit of this will only end in a loss of brains, stamina and a general weakening of the constitution. Probably once in a thousand times a wonder dog might be produced by constant inbreeding, but because of this long-shot why should the owner who is after the best and only the best, take these chances. This same case occurred sixty years ago among the Laverack setters and the outcome was a lot of weaklings, almost impossible to rear to maturity. Then along came the Duke-Rhoebes in whom flowed strong, healthy and vigorous blood. These were crossed with the weak Laveracks and a new area for the real type of setter was produced. From this cross the Llewellin setters originated. For years this breeding kept improving until about twenty years ago, when another line of blood was resorted to known as the Gleams, and from all results obtainen, it proved very beneficial to the Llewellin breeders. How soon another cross will prove beneficial, only time will tell.—Sportsman's Digest.

"The Greatest Automobile Value Today"

PACKARD TESTED BY NOVEL METHOD

After long experimenting Packard engineers have succeeded in inventing a "bad road" which is declared to have the worst highways in the country backed off the boards as a testing device for a finished car. One of the most difficult things to do in the final assembly of a new automobile is to completely remove all squeaks and rattles from it. Packard's new testing machine is declared to make it an easy matter to locate and eliminate every noise in the chassis and body.

In the new device each wheel of the car rests upon a big drum. The front axle of the car is held securely in a lock and the drums revolve at high speed. The drums are mounted on eccentrics, however, so they move up and down as well as revolve. To make the test most severe, when the right front drum, for example, rises abruptly, the left rear drops with equal abruptness. As a consequence the entire frame and body of the car are twisted in a manner that would rarely occur on the road. If there is a squeak or looseness anywhere in the chassis or body, it is quickly evident under this treatment.

"Packard has not abandoned their road tests, however," declares E. F. Roberts, vice president of manufacturing of the Packard company.

TIMELY TIPS FOR THE AUTO OWNER

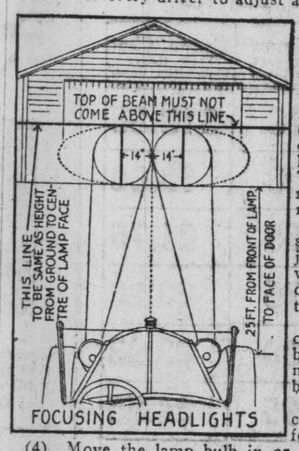
How to Focus the Headlights to Prevent Glare and Give Good Road Illumination

If the headlights on your car will not throw a good clear beam of light along the road, do not immediately jump to the conclusion that the lamps are no good. Providing the reflectors are in good condition and you have the correct kind of lamp bulb, a few simple adjustments will quickly enable you to fix your lights so that they will throw a bright beam, free from glare, and dark spots or circles.

INCORRECTLY FOCUSED. CORRECTLY FOCUSED.

The illustration shows one of the commonest headlight defects, lamps not correctly focused. When lamps are out of focus, they throw a series of dark rings on the road, while the center of the road generally remains in darkness. Lamps in this condition make driving uncomfortable and dangerous, for the dark spots force you to continually strain and so tire your eyes. Every motorist has been dazzled at some time or another by the lights of an approaching car with glaring headlights, but perhaps it has never occurred to you that your headlights were having exactly the same dazzling effect on drivers approaching YOUR car. Most States have laws requiring that headlights must not glare above 40 inches from the ground, and must reveal an object 200 feet ahead of the car.

Lights in good condition and properly adjusted should throw a glareless beam of light about 250 feet ahead of the car. It is a simple matter for every driver to adjust and focus his headlights as follows:



TOP OF BEAM MUST NOT COME ABOVE THIS LINE
14"
14"
THIS LINE TO BE SAME AS HEIGHT FROM GROUND TO CENTRE OF LAMP FACE
25 FT. FROM FRONT OF LAMP TO FACE OF DOOR

FOCUSING HEADLIGHTS

They can be focused against a wall or door of the garage. Measure the distance from the ground to the centre of the headlight, then draw a heavy horizontal line on the wall or door at this height. Now draw a vertical line from the centre of the horizontal line, then on either side of it draw another line at a distance of 14 inches. The diagram shows exactly how to mark out these lines. You are now ready to adjust your lights.

(1) Stand the car on a level surface with the front of the lamps just 25 feet from the front of the wall or door, and the radiator cap directly in line with the centre vertical line.

(2) If you have an anti-glare, or magnifying lenses, or anything but plain flat glass, you must remove them while you focus the bulb.

(3) Turn on the headlights, but cover up one lamp, so that you can focus one lamp at a time.

(4) Move the lamp bulb in or out until the dark rings and the black spot in the centre disappears, and the white circle of light is concentrated in a circle of from 2 feet to 2½ feet. If the beam is MORE than 2½ feet, it will not throw the beam of light far enough ahead. The method of moving the bulb in or out varies slightly on different cars, but an examination will quickly show you exactly how to do it on your particular lamps. When you have one lamp properly focused, cover it up, then focus the other lamp.

When both lamps are focused, replace the lenses, then test to see if the lamps are aligned to prevent glaring. If the alignment is correct, the top of the bright circle of light will JUST TIP the top of the horizontal line, and the centres of the beams from the lamps will be just 28 inches apart, cutting the two outside vertical lines.

If the light comes ABOVE the horizontal line, the lights will glare, but if they go BELOW, the beam will not be thrown sufficiently far ahead to light up an object 200 feet ahead of the car. The remedy is of course to tilt the lamp up or down until it is aligned correctly. If the centre of each beam is not in line with the outside vertical line, move the lamp head to the right or left, as required.

If none of the lamps will burn, put your foot on the Starting Switch. If the Starter operates, it shows that the Battery is all right. If the Starter will not operate, then test the battery to see that it is charged. If it shows a charge, then examine the terminal connections at the Battery, to see that they are tight and are not corroded badly. Be careful to see that the ground connection at frame is TIGHT. If all these connections look all right, then examine the connections behind the lighting switch and at the lamps to see that they are clean and tight. If one lamp only will not light, the bulb may be burned out, try a bulb from another socket. If this lamp will not light, then the fuse may be blown, or the bulb is making a poor connection in its socket. If a lamp will burn, but is very dim or flickers in and out, examine the connections at the socket and see that they are not loose. Sometimes the connections become rusty or dirty and do not make a good contact. Clean them thoroughly with a piece of sand paper.

If the lights seem to be bright when the engine is running, but become dim when it slows down or stops, it shows the battery is weak and must be recharged at once.

Five Dealers Sold 1541 Cars in Year Just Closed

Glendale is what you might call "a city on wheels."

By this is meant that most of the residents of the city ride in automobiles. This, at least, would be indicated by the number of cars that were sold in Glendale during the past few months.

The following five dealers have, according to reports turned into the Glendale Daily Press, sold 1,541 cars in Glendale during the past year, and during the past three months 565 cars were sold by these firms. Estimating each of these cars to be valued at $1000, about $1,541,000 was paid by the people of Glendale to these five dealers for cars of various types. Three dealers of Glendale report that their allotment for the coming year totals 1,471 cars. The employees of eight of the firms responding number 112.

All of the dealers state that business during the past year was good, and that the prospects for the future are unusually bright.

C. L. Smith, corner Colorado and Orange, dealer for the Chevrolet in Glendale, reports the largest number of sales, having 689 to his credit during the past year and 198 for the past three months. This firm employes 26 men and during the past year a branch was established on the San Fernando road in South Glendale. The allotment of this firm for the coming year is 700 cars.

In the number of cars sold the Glendale Motor company, on West Colorado, stands second among those reporting. Three hundred and fifteen cars were sold by this firm during the past year and 93 during the last three months. Fourteen men are employed by this concern, which is dealer for the Maxwell and Chalmers automobiles. The allotment for the coming year is 271 cars, but it is expected that the sales will be far greater than this number.

Smith & Sloan, 228 South Brand, dealers for the Overland and the Willys-Knight in Glendale and the San Fernando valley, come third in cars sold, having 287 to their credit. Eighty-eight of these were sold during the past three months. The allotment for the coming year includes 500 machines. Fourteen employees are kept busy by this firm.

Two hundred and two cars were sold during the past year by the Packer Auto company, 245 South Brand boulevard, dealers for the studebaker in Eagle Rock and the San Fernando valley. Seventy-four of these were disposed of during the past three months. Twenty men are employed by this concern. The business of this firm for the first six months in 1923 was 51 per cent greater than the same period in 1922.

The Court Motor company, 235 South Brand boulevard, sold 48 Cadillacs during the past year, 12 of which number were distributed during the last three months. During the past year this firm, which employes five men, constructed a building at the rear of the main showroom to handle its growing business.

Among the firms reporting to the questionnaire sent out by the Glendale Daily Press were the following:

Harry E. White, corner San Fernando and Brand, agent for the Reo automobile and the Cletrac tractor; Glendale Motor company, West Colorado street, agent for the Maxwell and Chalmers automobiles; Bartlett & French, 111 West [illegible] dealers for the Hupmobile; Glendale and vicinity; Mu[illegible]Doner Service garage, 321 South Brand boulevard; Court Motor company, 235 South Brand, dealer for the Cadillac; R. E. Corrigan, 116-20 West Colorado, dealer for the Dodge Brothers automobiles; Smith - Sloan, Inc., 228 South Brand, dealer of the Willys-Knight and Overland cars in Glendale and San Fernando valley; C. L. Smith, Colorado and Orange, dispenser of the Chevrolet in Los Angeles county; Parker & Black, 113 West Harvard street, Exide agents and representatives of the Raybesto Brake Lining company; and the Packer Auto company, 245 South Brand, Studebaker dealers in Glendale.

HUPMOBILE 1924 MODELS ARE HERE

The 1924 models of the sturdy Hupmobile are now on display at the show rooms of Bartlett & French, dealers for this machine in Glendale, according to an announcement made by Mr. French this morning. The lines and refinements of the 1924 Hup are more appealing than anything thus far offered by this company and the residents of Glendale are invited to call at the headquarters of this firm, 107 East Colorado, to "look them over."

Technical motor car experts who have tested out the new Hupmobile are high in their praise of its improved appearance and performing qualities, as revealed by a day spent in seeing the car manufactured and giving it a thorough demonstration from behind the wheel.

H. A. Tarantous, managing editor of Motor, said this, in part, in discussing the car in that publication:

"National reputation for goodness is founded on goodness and this has been a Hupmobile quality for many years. A day at the plant inspecting the new four cylinder chassis and a reasonably long demonstration were sufficiently convincing to enable me to say unhesitatingly that Hupmobile is the most remarkable car in its class.

"I am fully satisfied with its performance as to speed—55 miles per hour — hill climbing acceleration, braking ability; but I was more impressed with the increased power output and smoothness of the engine, the extreme ease of gear shifting up and down without the suggestion of a clash, and the ease of riding. All these things have, of course, made necessary some changes, and practically every unit of the car was affected, more particularly the engine, where numerous ones appear; the clutch, which is a new type entirely; the frame, which is stiffer and longer; the springs, which are longer front and rear; the wheel base, now 115 inches; and, to a minor degree, the transmission system. Bodies have new lines with a higher hood, and they are much roomier.

"I must emphasize more strongly the performance of this new model with respect to its predecessor. In the new Hupmobile the clutch pressure is ever lighter, and I was able to shift down with child-like effort at any speed without noise. The gear shift lever being longer and closer to the right hand, makes driving still better.

"The new engine is unusually smooth, due to crankshaft, piston and rod changes, and also because of these changes, runs faster and gives more power, all of which, I am sure, every driver will at once notice. It seems to me, too, that with its better performance qualities, the engine is much quieter."

LOW GEAR OVERHEATING

When it is necessary to employ the low gear for a considerable period it is possible to obviate the overheating that would ordinarily result by keeping the mixture in the leanest possible condition.

WRONG AND RIGHT TIME TO HUNT

The novice fox hunter and 'coon hunter as well, should be well versed on the time and conditions when he may expect a good run and a few hours of thrilling sport. It is very often the case that an inexperienced owner will start out with his hound on a very cold day when the ground is frozen, and expect his dog to perform in the same usual manner. This is utterly impossible, for in the first place this kind of weather is very unfavorable for scent, and in the second place, the dog is unable to carry the trail. Here, then, is where the misinformed hunter will place all the blame on the hound, absolving himself altogether. On the other hand, the experienced hunter will choose a time when the ground is damp and the temperature not below freezing. He will also be up with the early dawn ready for the sport that fills the heart with gladness. On such a morning there should be a cloudy sky, a light breeze from the south, and a heavy atmosphere. With these conditions prevailing, the hound will show to every advantage, his head will be up, and there will be no need of straddling the trail—Sportsman's Digest.

TWENTY - SIXTH BIRTHDAY OF OLDS

The twenty-sixth birthday, in August, of one of the oldest automobile factories, the Olds Motor Works of Lansing, Mich., is past. Hundreds of thousands of cars have been made by this "Granddad" of the industry, dating to 1897, when the Oldsmobile saw the light of day.

Back in 1895, R. E. Olds, then a youngster, had a dream. Despite the protests of his father, who was a gas engine builder, he built the first Oldsmobile. From that humble beginning the great Olds Motor Works factories have sprung, and it is to this first endeavor of Olds' that the people of this country really owe the automobile as they see it today.

For the success of the Olds Motor Works brought success to many other struggling companies and the contracts placed by this company for transmissions, etc., allowed many others to make a profit and live. Not only did the Olds Motor Works materially assist other manufacturers, then not heard from, but it also trained many of the biggest executives in the industry today, who later started their own companies and made big successes.

This first car, now on display at Smithsonian Institute, was finished by Olds in 1897, and his company jumped into a big production program in 1900, being the pioneer in many of the fields. At that time the factory consisted of a few small two-story brick buildings.

Today the Olds Motor Works uses 1,500,000 square feet of floor space, the many buildings occupying about 80 acres of ground. There are now more than 4,000 employees and this company enjoys the reputation of having the longest automobile factory building in the world; its main building being 1,860 feet in length. In addition to this unit there are 24 other large buildings which go to comprise the plant, including a new axle plant, paint shop, enameling ovens, store houses, experimental and service buildings as well as the general offices. Its motor factory is said to be one of the best equipped and most modern factories in the country.

DID YOU KNOW?

That if the tappets cannot be quietd the stem of one of the valves may be bent through warping? Mushroom type tappets will often click, even if properly adjusted, if worn enough to present "high spots," while the roller type often click because of uneven wear; but bent stems are seldom considered. They can be straightened, but satisfactory results can only be had by installing a new valve.

That a slight dulling of a headlight reflector will dim a bulb decidedly? If there is a difference in the intensity of the light, and you are not certain whether the trouble is with the bulb or the reflector, try reversing the bulbs. If there is no difference obviously the reflector is to blame.

That the spark seen at the terminal of a plug when it is shorted with a screw driver is no indication that the plug is firing? This merely shows that the ignition is reaching the plug. Whether the plug is firing is discovered by noting whether the engine runs slower when the plug is shorted and its cylinder cut out.

CUTTING TOO CLOSE

Many drivers are criticized for cutting in too closely upon passing other cars, yet when the facts are known a large percentage of such violations are unintentional. The driver does not realize how near the rear of his car comes to the left front fender of the car he passes because his calculations are upset either through the speeding up of the car he passes, or the slowing up of his car. The safe plan, therefore, is to speed up a little gefore taking your place in line.

JEWETT MAKES A CLEAN SWEEP ON HILLS

Every hill climbing contest staged in the state of New York this summer has fallen before the Jewett Six, the Paige Detroit Motor Car company has advised Ralph E. Bliss, 306 East Colorado, agent for the Jewett in Glendale.

The most recent was that of the Oneida Hill held Saturday, August 11. Here the Jewett, driven by Edward Bachle, set a new hill record of 22 and 2-5's seconds and in the event arranged exclusively for owners took both first and second places in opposition to cars of more expensive make and larger piston displacement.

The Oneida Hill is known as an unusually steep and dangerous climb. The dealer's association of that city in announcing the date picked for the climb and the location, stated that the worst hill near Oneida had been chosen.

The other two New York hill climbs which have been won by Jewetts were at Albany, under auspices of a local newspaper and at Syracuse under auspices of the Syracuse Automobile club. The latter event was an American Automobile association sanction contest and was held under the A. A. A., regarding classification of cars, according to their piston displacements.

At both Albany and Syracuse, the Jewett Six won every event in its classification. At Albany a Paige 6-70 set a new record on the New Salem hill in one event of the contest. At Syracuse the Jewett Six set a new record in the free-for-all event, which according to the local automobile club will stand for a long time.

"CUTTING IN" CAUSES MANY BAD ACCIDENTS

When overtaking another automobile on the road, pass to the left and do not pull over to the right until entirely clear of the car. The purpose of this is to prevent this dangerous practice of "cutting in," which has been the cause of many accidents.

BRUSH FIRES ARE GIVING CONCERN

Forest and brush fires are breaking out in widespread areas in many mountain regions of Southern California at this time. Officials of the Auotmobile club of Southern California have been asked by various communities to point out the dangers of forest fires to motorists.

A short time ago a statewide warning was issued to campers and sportsmen that because of the lack of rain at this time of year the brush in the foothills is drying up at an unusually early period and danger from conflagration is exceedingly great.

But now, with recent fires raging near San Juan Capistrano and Santa Ana and small blases reported from the San Bernardino and Sierra mountains, a second warning is issued by the club to impress upon autoists the tremendous responsibility they have in protecting the watersheds of this part of the state.

Forest rangers declare that auto parties are probably responsible for about 90 per cent of the destructive fires which often cost many lives and the loss of millions of dollars in property every year.

Motorists who are careless enough to throw lighted cigars and cigarettes or burning pipe ashes from a machine are the worst offenders, it is declared.

OBSERVATIONS

The only time a motorist doesn't wish gasoline cost less is when he's trying to find a quiet road for his Sunday spin.

Like a rubber band the life of a tire can be stretched so far and no farther. There's no economy in the snap.

COACH HAYHURST OPTIMISTIC ON TEAM

Says Glendale Vets and Newcomers Will Make Strong Squad

With eight letter men back on the job and a raft of seasoned material on hand, Coach Hayhurst will give his Glendale high school footballers their first workout Tuesday afternoon. Suits and equipment have already been dispensed to most of the squad and work will start in earnest the first day.

"Prospects for the coming season are very bright," states Coach Hayhurst, "not only for football, but for athletics generally. The Central league football race will be a tight one and Glendale will be right in the running."

Ronald West, fullback and captain, will be one of the mainstays of the eleven. West played a strong, consistent game last year and proved to be one of the most dangerous men in the entire league.

Horri and Lavelle, who played at the ends last year, will be back to hold the wing positions this season. Both men are fast on their feet and possess the grey matter essential for a football player. Horri played in the backfield for a portion of last season, but was later shifted to end.

Philips and Brucker, veteran guards of last season, will also be on deck when the roll is called, as will Ryan, who played fullback last year. Ryan has earned a great reputation as a backfield man and was rated as the best kicker in the league last season.

In addition to the vets, several

Norman C. Hayhurst

Head coach at Glendale High School for the past six years

players who were ineligible last year will be available this season. These include Howard and Derril Elliot, Cyril Walton, Dodson and Fish. Marrion Morrison, last season lightweight player, has taken on considerable flesh during the summer and will go out for the heavyweights. Then there is a young fellow named Jim Crow, a newcomer from New Mexico, from whom Hayhurst is expecting great things.

Five men—Bartow, Stofft, Butts, Clouse and Marshall—stars of last years team, have been lost through graduation. Their loss, while it will be severely felt, will be made up by a mass of new material.

A fast, light team will represent Glendale this season, the average weight running about 150 pounds. However, the experienced men, together with the speed possessed, more than offset the lack of weight.

While all of the schools are expected to have strong teams in the field, most of the difficulty is anticipated with Covina and Alhambra. Covina has practically the old team back, while Alhambra is already boasting the heaviest team in the league.

When asked what effect the half-day sessions would have upon athletics, Hayhurst stated that it would eliminate freshmen and sophomores from the teams. "Anyone having afternoon classes will be automatically eliminated from the teams, as all practice and games will take place in the afternoon. This means that all teams, even the lightweights, must be recruited from the ranks of the seniors and juniors. The attendance at the games will also be cut down, those having afternoon classes being unable to witness the contests."

PLAN ATHLETICS FOR EVENING HIGH SCHOOL

Five Teams Lined Up for League by Coach Hayhurst

Indications of a banner athletic season in the evening high school are very bright, according to Normal C. Hayhurst, physical director. Upon the opening of the evening high school the latter part of September, an athletic league will be formed. Teams from all organizations in the city will be invited to enter the league.

Baseball will be the first event of the season, and already several teams have signified intentions of entering. Among these are the Night School, First Methodist church, American Legion, Bentley Lumber Co., De Molay, Standard Oil and City Employees. Several of these teams, including the Legion, Methodist and DeMolay, participated last season, and will be exceptionally good.

Any persons desiring to participate in these games, whether members of any organized team or not, are requested to get in touch with Coach Hayhurst at the high school gymnasium during the afternoon or evening.

Seattle won a tight game from Salt Lake yesterday, making four straight wins over the Bees. It took the Suds ten innings to turn the trick. Eight to seven was the tune of victory. The score:

COMING CONFERENCE RACE BIDS FAIR TO BE ONE MIGHTY HOT SCRAP

As New Buildings and Additions Are Not Yet Completed, Doubling Up Cannot Be Avoided at the Present Time

TRANSFERS WILL HAVE TO BE RESTRICTED

Comprehensive Statement of District Boundaries, Kindergarten Regulations, Superintendent's Hours and Other Important Deals Given by Supt. White

Dopesters are already at work trying to pick the winner of the Southern California conference football pennant for this season. From the upset that was given the dope last fall it is mighty hard to say what will happen this year. The wiseacres who picked Occidental for a winner last season got the merry ha ha when Pomona romped off with the bacon, and again when Southern Branch displayed a real bunch of football players. The life of a dopester is a hard one.

Strange as it may seem at first glance, Pomona is not picked to nab the conference rag this season. The loss of practically the entire team by graduation makes it almost impossible for the Sage hens to repeat their last year's performance. Just what Coach Nixon has out Claremont way is difficult to learn, but it is certainly not the team that won the conference honors last fall.

Occidental, Southern Branch University of California and California Tech are generally regarded as the logical contenders for the race. Oxy last year was the runner-up team and fought to the last against the Sage hen onslaught. Few of the Tiger warriors will be missing when the back, will, however, be one of the few. Hiss loss will be keenly felt, but will not seriously handicap the Tigers.

Southern Branch, while more or less of a mystery as yet, is expected to put up a real scrap. With Jimmy Cline coaching, assisted by Charley Tooney, the Cubs will have an all-California coaching staff to instruct them in the famous Andy Smith system of football. All three of the coaches are former stars on Smith's "wonder teams." Few of the last year's team will be gone. Among those missing will be Gordon White, all conference halfback, who is now with the Golden Bears. Last year the Cubs made their first real showing as a football team, and this season have an unlimited opportunity.

Cal. Tech has practically the old team back. Hollis Moyse, a local boy, and former Glendale high school star, is captain of the Engineer eleven. The Technicians landed third place in the conference rating last season, showing a strong and powerful machine.

It looks as though Whittier and Redlands will be the "weak sisters" of the conference. They ran a hot contest for the cellar berth last season, Redlands winning. Neither has much upon which to build a team, nor much prospect of new material being developed.

Football team of 1922, which with few changes will represent Glendale High School this season

SEALS WIN FROM TIGERS BY 8-4 SCORE

Oaks Maul Angeles in Slow Ball Game; 3 to 1

Recovering from their late reverses in great style, the San Francisco Seals defeated Vernon 8 to 4, in yesterday's game at Washington Park. Frank Schellenbach, Vernon moundman, was truly knocked out of the box, being hit in the arm by a Seal slugger in the sixth canto.

Pat Shea pitched a great game for the northerners, and the Tigers were simply baffled by his delivery. Pete Schnider was the only Bengal able to solve his offerings. Pete landed out two singles and as many doubles. The score:

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| San Francisco | 1 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | — 8 |

| Base hits | 2 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 1 | 1 | 2 | 2 | 1 | —11 |

By defeating the Los Angeles Angels by the score of 3 to 1 at Oakland yesterday, the Oaks climbed out of the cellar and at last obtained an above-ground view of the Coast League race.

Walter Mails was responsible for the Acorn's victory. He has quite a job raising the Oaklets out of the basement every time he goes to the mound, but he usually accomplishes the feat if his team man mates will allow him. Four scatered hits and one lone tally was all he allowed the Seraphic band.

Elmer Ponder, pitching for Los Angeles, was unable to compete with the great Mails, although he pitched a fairly presentable game. The Angels and Oaks stand even in the series, each with two games to their credit. The score:

SACRAMENTO TO GIVE CLUB BONUS IF PENNANT WON

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 8.—As an inducement to the members of the Sacramento club of the Pacific Coast Baseball League to redouble their efforts to capture the league pennant for the session, the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce at a meeting today decided to collect a cash bonus to be handed to the players if they "bring home the bacon." The bonus will be returned to the donors if the club fails to land the pennant, the chamber stated.

FIRPO MADE TWO MISTAKES, SAYS FARRELL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Luis Angel Firpo was guilty of two great mistakes in making the arrangements leading up to his fight with Jack Dempsey for the world's heavyweight championship, in the opinion of many good judges.

Firpo should have waited another year before accepting a match with the champion and, instead of dispensing with the services of Jimmy DeForest, he should have given himself over entirely to the man who made Dempsey the champion, it was pointed out.

The South American not only made a great mistake when he cut loose from DeForest, but he hurt the show, others say, because many fans would have believed he had a good chance to win the title if he had been brought along by DeForest.

After watching Firpo in all his big fights and in training for all his fights, it is almost obvious that the chances of the South American in his big fight do not depend in the slightest upon his trainer.

The smartest trainer and teacher in the world could never accomplish a thing with Firpo, and for that reason it follows that the South American would have no better chance next year against Dempsey than he would this season, figuring, of course that Dempsey will not ruin himself in another year.

Firo knows as much right now as he ever will know, and he is just as good now as he ever will be. He has the brain to profit by competent instruction, but he hasn't the temperament to improve himself by such.

When Jimmy DeForest started working with Firpo he tried above everything else to teach the South American to use his left hand, to hit straight with his right and, and to educate him in some of the fundamentals of defensive boxing.

Firpo showed results in the gymnasium when he was training for his fight with Bill Brennan, and when he was working to get ready for his bout with Jess Willard he really looked like he was learning something. While he was not fancy with it, he used his left hand quite effectively, he stepped around with speed that few thought he possessed, and he was able to box much better than the novice he was thought to be.

Everything he learned and exhibited in the gymnasium was lost when he went into the ring with Willard. When he was hurt he forgot everything but his killing instinct. He dropped his left hand at his side and tore in, swinging his right arm like a huge club. He forgot to box or try to defend himself. He just fought like a maniac, and he won.

ORDINANCE NO. 842

AN ORDINANCE OF THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE ORDERING THE LAYING OUT AND OPENING OF DORAN STREET IN SAID CITY.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE:

SECTION 1. That the public interest and convenience require and the Council of the City of Glendale hereby orders the following improvement to be made, to-wit:

That Doran Street be laid out and opened from the southeasterly line of Glendale Avenue to the westerly line of Adams Street, in the manner contemplated by Ordinance No. 808 of said City, approved and adopted on the 28th day of June, 1923, to which said Ordinance reference is hereby made for all particulars regarding said improvement and of the district to be assessed therefor.

SECTION 2. That the City Attorney is hereby directed to bring an action in the name of the City of Glendale, in the Superior Court, of the State of California, in and for the County of Los Angeles, for the condemnation of the property described in the Ordinance hereinbefore referred to and necessary and convenient to be taken for the improvement therein and in Section 1 hereof mentioned, against all owners and claimants of said property or any part thereof.

SECTION 3. The City Clerk shall certify to the passage of this Ordinance and shall cause the same to be published once in the Glendale Daily Press, the official newspaper of said City, and thereupon and thereafter the same shall be in full force and effect.

Adopted this 6th day of September, 1923.

"TO THE LAST MAN"

TENSE, THRILLING—A RED-BLOODED STORY OF THE WEST IN THE RUGGED, PIONEER DAYS!

This tale is based on the "Pleasant Valley War" which ravaged the Tonto Basin of Arizona in the late 80s. In it two families and their sympathizers fought literally "to the last man." (Signed) ZANE GREY.

GODSPEED

Yes, you will have your way, my Boy, and you will have your way,
And you will seek the thing you want, and what is there to say?
And you will find the things you seek, and you will come to see
How many things in life are not what you think them to be.
And you will have your time of tears, of sorrow and of pain,
And cast the broken vase aside and you will seek again,
As men have done through all the years since farthest yesterday,
And what is there to say, my Boy, and what is there to say?

Yes, you will have your way, my Boy, and you will have your way;
And you will walk by stony paths, and what is there to say?
And you will limp with hurt and pain, and you will wonder why,
And listen in the dusk and dark and there be no reply.
And you will wander in the dusk, and hope and pray alone,
And what you thought was truth a lie, and what seemed bread a stone,
And then sometimes will come the dawn, the highroad and the day,
And you will do as men have done, and what is there to say?

Yes, you will walk the way of life, and you will walk your way,
As men have done for all of time, and what is there to say?
And you will toil as men have toiled, and you will laugh and weep,
And you will find where ways are rough and where the paths are steep,
And prayers and love will follow you, and they be very near,
And you will listen in the dark, and sometime you will hear,
But you must go the way of men, and you must find the way,
So what is there to say, my Boy, and what is there to say?
